

No-Holds-Barred News Conference

Nixon Answers Watergate Questions

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon told an emotionally charged news conference Wednesday he is not going to resign and said "I would have blown my stack" if he had been told the illegal and "very, very embarrassing" facts in the Watergate case by former Attorney General John Mitchell.

He also predicted that two former top aides, H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman, will be exonerated "when they have an opportunity to have their case heard in court," an indication he expects them to be indicted.

The President displayed pent-up anger during his 50-minute televised press conference on the lawn of the Western White House, but was in command when faced with a volley of questions which amounted to a cross examination of his personal role in the scandal.

He began the session by announcing the resignation of Secretary of State William P. Rogers and the appointment of foreign policy advisor Henry A. Kissinger as his successor, effective Sept. 3.

The President's voice trembled when he lashed out with barely concealed anger at his critics in the press and Congress and "those who would use the Watergate affair to destroy me."

He said he would "impute no improper motives" to "some political figures, some members of the press, and some members of the television industry who would exploit the issue."

But he added, "I think they would prefer that I fail." "On the other hand," he declared forcefully, "I am not going to fail. I am here to do a job and I am going to do the best I can . . ."

At the same time, when asked how much "personal blame" he accepted for the abuses, he replied: "I accept it all."

"When you say, do I consider resigning, the answer is no, I shall not resign . . ." he said.

At the no-holds-barred session, Nixon also said specifically:

—He did not recall former acting FBI Director Patrick Gray warning him in a July 6, 1972 telephone call that some of Nixon's closest White House aides were trying to "mortally wound" him by not cooperating in the Watergate investigation.

—His confidence in Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's integrity was not only unchanged but "strengthened" despite Agnew's investigation for possible criminal violations.

Nixon vigorously denounced "outrageous" news leaks about the inquiry into possible kickbacks and promised to fire whoever was responsible.

—He told former White House Counsel John Dean last March 21, and Dean agreed, that it would be wrong to raise as much as $1 million for the Watergate conspirators or to grant executive clemency.

Throughout the period following the June 17, 1972, break-in at the Democratic Party headquarters he would have expected Mitchell to tell him "if he was involved or if anyone else was involved. He did not tell me."

Nixon did not explain why he never asked Mitchell, who had testified that if the President had asked him he would have told him "chapter and verse."

—Denied any impropriety in having Ehrlichman approach U.S. District Court Judge Matthew Byrne about the possibility of becoming FBI director while Byrne was presiding at the Pentagon Papers trial in Los Angeles.

—Revealed for the first time that Clark MacGregor, who succeeded Mitchell as his campaign manager, was supposed to conduct a thorough investigation of the re-election committee. In the White House, the investigative responsibility was given to Ehrlichman, who in turn delegated it to Dean.

—He asked Haldeman to listen to the tape of a conversation held with Dean on Sept. 15, 1972, to make sure "we were absolutely correct in our response" to Dean's allegation that Nixon might have known about the Watergate cover-up as early as the date of the September meeting.

—The September, 1971, break-in at Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office by White House undercover agents was "illegal, unauthorized and completely deplorable." But he said he and Assistant Attorney General Henry Petersen agreed April 18 they were not required to inform the Pentagon Papers trial because it was a "dry hole" and no evidence was obtained by the White House "plumbers" involved in the burglary.

Nixon said he agreed 10 days later to give the jury the break-in record on the advice of Attorney General Richard Kleindienst that "It was best that we bent over backwards in this case."

—Did not believe there were grounds for impeachment proceedings against him because he had done nothing illegal and insisted he had not betrayed his oath to uphold the Constitution in approving a surveillance plan that included burglaries and mail openings.

He defended his past use of wiretaps without court order as essential to protect the national security, and declared such wiretaps as well as burglaries were used on a "very large scale" in the Kennedy and Johnson years.

—He was not "particularly surprised" that polls had shown that three out of four Americans believe it was wrong to make the tapes. But he added taping has been discontinued and he is dictating his recollections at night. "I think that perhaps will be the more accurate record of history in the end," he said.

—Owed no apology to the American or Cambodian people for telling them on April 30, 1971 that Cambodia's neutrality had been observed for the past four years, when in fact, the United States, on his orders had been secretly bombing Cambodian sanctuaries in 1969 and 1970.

—Short of impeachment, Presidential power is only limited by public opinion, congressional and other pressures.

"I was elected to do a job," Nixon told reporters. "Watergate is an episode that I deeply deplore. Had I been running the campaign . . . it would not have happened."

But Watergate, he added, was "water under the bridge. It's gone now . . . We are proceeding as best we know how to get all those who are guilty brought to justice in Watergate. But we must move on from Watergate to the business of the people, (which) is continuing the initiatives we began in the first administration."

Asked whether he thought his capacity to govern had been impaired, the President replied: "It is true that as far as the number of people who would capacity to govern is concerned, prefer that I do not resign" and that to be under a constant don't accept the mandate of barrage of 12 to 15 minutes a 1972. He referred specifically to night, on each of the three press on this score.

When asked to identify the months, tends to raise some "exploiters" of Watergate, he questions in peoples minds with replied: "When the shoe fits, regard to the President, and it people should wear it."

He declined to personally regard to the capacity to repeat a White House statement that he would abide by any govern.

"But I also know this—I was 'definite ruling' of the Supreme Court on the tapes. He said there were 'a great controversy."

Kissinger Set to Replace Rogers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry A. Kissinger, the principal foreign-policy theoretician in the Nixon administration, is moving in as secretary of state in a Cabinet shift that dramatizes the drive for warm relations with China and the Soviet Union.

William P. Rogers is giving way, as affable as ever — he said Wednesday he felt like "the last of the whooping cranes" — to return to a successful law practice in New York.

Rogers, 60, was the only remaining member of President Nixon's initial Cabinet. He said he never intended to stay past the first term but remained an additional seven months to help nail down the ceasefire in Vietnam and to fulfill other diplomatic missions.

"I would have left whether there had been a Watergate or not," he told reporters.

At a news conference in San Clemente, Calif., President Nixon announced Rogers' resignation and said he is nominating Kissinger to replace him.

If confirmed by the Senate, Kissinger, a 50-year-old bachelor who admires movie actresses and other fashionable women, will be the first Jewish and first foreign born secretary of state. Kissinger's family fled Nazi Germany when he was a teenager. He is now an American citizen.

Foreign policy is considered the administration's strongest point, and Kissinger is clearly the chief strategist. He promoted Nixon's overture to China, including the historic trip last year to Peking, the summit exchanges with Soviet Communist party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev and the current effort to reshape U.S. relations with European allies and Japan.

And he was the driving force to negotiate a ceasefire agreement in Vietnam.

However, Rogers may have felt privately, he spoke proudly of the administration's foreign-policy accomplishments and of his own role. The 1970 ceasefire that halted the war between Israel and the Arab states gave him the greatest personal satisfaction.

"My sole regret is that we were not able to end the war in Indochina more speedily," he told a group of newsmen as he sipped a soft drink in his comfortable eighth floor office at the State Department. "I don't see much more that we could have accomplished than we have."

Kissinger still will hold his position as Nixon's national security advisor. The dual role is unprecedented. Even Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who generally had his way, was denied it by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Nixon explained that the purpose of keeping Kissinger on the White House staff is to smooth cooperation with other departments.

Kissinger's ascension to the role of secretary of state should improve the Nixon administration's ability to conduct foreign policy.

By nominating Kissinger to replace Rogers, Nixon took the one dramatic step many diplomats and U.S. officials felt could break the stagnation that was beginning to envelop diplomatic maneuvering.

One State Department source said Kissinger as secretary of state would show the world that Nixon is determined to conduct foreign policy on the fullest possible scale.

"There was always the doubt that Kissinger would leave or, at the least, become demoralized by Watergate and his association with involved (White House) staffers," the source said.

"This had some foreign powers not only doubting Nixon's ability to exercise authority over Congress, but fearing he would lose the most impressive man in the administration concerning foreign affairs," the source added.

Because Kissinger will combine being secretary of state with his current job as national security adviser, he will be come probably the most important nonelected figure the nation has ever experienced in foreign affairs.

This power should remove any concern about Kissinger's leaving the government anytime soon. It also should go a long way toward enhancing the administration's position in Congress.

A congressional source said Kissinger is well thought of by key Senate and House members, many of whom felt Rogers spoke with very little authority or knowledge when he appeared on Capitol Hill.

As secretary, Kissinger will be in much closer contact with the Senate and House and should be more effective than Rogers in arguing administration positions.

Lyle, Houghtaling Indicted

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

Former City Treasurer Thomas R. Lyle was indicted by the Ulster County Grand Jury today on charges of alleged grand larceny in the third degree, two counts, in connection with business transactions relating to his personal business, the Thomas R. Lyle Insurance Agency.

District Attorney Francis J. Vogt warned today that because it is alleged that Lyle pocketed insurance premium money which should have been forwarded to insurance carriers, Lyle's insurance clients should check their insurance policies and contact the carrier directly to verify coverage.

"There may be a lot of people running around without coverage," Vogt said, "who knowingly paid for but have no insurance."

He said that out of a spot check of 25 insurance transactions handled by Lyle, six were found to involve alleged larceny.

The grand jury also indicted, John Houghtaling, a former principal account clerk, employed under Lyle in the City Treasurer's Office for grand larceny in the third degree. Houghtaling is accused of alleged theft of funds from the treasurer's office.

Vogt said that Lyle is accused of larceny between Feb. 21 and March 9, 1973 involving between $1,200 and $1,300.

Lyle is alleged to have arranged financing of insurance premium payments for his customers through a premium finance organization. Under such an arrangement the premium finance organizations send a check for the full amount of the premium to Lyle who in turn is supposed to forward the money to the insurance carrier, less his commission.

Other grand jury indictments on page 32.

Instead of forwarding the money, Vogt said, he allegedly pocketed it.

Lyle is charged with a class E felony and if convicted, can be sentenced up to four years in prison.

The former treasurer resigned his post with the city Aug. 6 for what he called "very depressing, urgent and trying personal matters" which he said were "absolutely unrelated to my work as city treasurer."

Houghtaling, 36, of 147 Greenkill Avenue, was arrested June 4 on charges of third 1973.

degree grand larceny and petit larceny. Garry Stafford, 30, of 180 Delaware Avenue, a clerk, was arrested June 4 and was indicted June 29 by the Grand Jury on charges of alleged grand larceny in the second degree and Fred Manuel, another clerk was arrested on charges of petit larceny. Those charges were later dismissed.

Houghtaling is accused of the alleged theft of more than $250 from the treasurer's office between June 1972 and June 1973.

Sewage Reconstruction in City

Government OKs Project

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON

The Federal Disaster Assistance Administration has approved emergency sanitary sewage reconstruction on Pine Grove Avenue at Broadway and will pay virtually the entire cost of the project, The Freeman learned today.

City and FDAA officials would not release cost estimate figures since the contractor, Turk Construction Inc. of Kingston, has not submitted a bill but indications are that the cost will exceed $25,000.

City Engineer Thomas J. Wickman said, however, that the city would pay for the installation of a new manhole, some 20 feet deep, at the site. Wickman estimated the cost on that part of the project "at around $3,000."

The first indication that there was something seriously wrong with the 18-inch sewer line under Pine Grove Avenue came in late June when the YMCA reported flooding in the basement of its building on Broadway. Work crews from the Department of Public Works pumped out the basement of the 'Y' and cleared the sewage line with hydraulic pumps. The sewer line functioned until June 29 when four inches of rain fell. Shortly thereafter, a cave-in developed in the parking area between the YMCA and the Bus Terminal on Pine Grove Avenue indicating a rupture in the line.

The DPW then excavated, went down some 20 feet to the sewage line and found it completely blocked with dirt and silt. "There was no way we could unplug it," Charles J. Cole, superintendent of public works, later told the Freeman.

"It was just a total stoppage," Since Turk Construction was the only firm in the area able to handle the job on an emergency basis, the firm was immediately hired and went to work in mid-July.

City officials then contacted officials from FDAA, recently headquartered on Washington Avenue, and applied for an outright grant to cover the cost of the job, contending, successfully, that the damage was caused by the storms of late June and early July.

President Nixon had declared Ulster County a disaster area as a result of those storms, on July 20, thus making the county, and five adjoining counties, eligible for federal disaster relief.

Indications are now that the Pine Grove Avenue job was the only major project the city applied for under the FDAA program. "We've applied for aid for some debris work here and there, but that's about all," Wickman said when asked if any other major project were in the works.

The Ulster County Legislature, on the other hand, has applied for some $660,000 in assistance for public damage incurred during the disaster period.

Fuel Shortage Affects New Paltz School Routes

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ
Changes in district operation which reflect the national energy crisis and the rise in food prices now all too familiar to every housewife came before the New Paltz Board of Education at its meeting Wednesday night.

Because of the nationwide fuel shortage, according to Superintendent of Schools Dr. James Hicken the increasing concern for the ecology, the district will not run its Middle and High School buses on a number of feeder roads in the district.

Business Administrator Frank Hamilton, noting the district's liberal transportation policies of the past, said he expected to get many phone calls and the wrath of irate parents, and he wanted to make sure the school board was informed of the new policy and backed it.

Affected by the new policy will be a number of roads in the district which extend off main roads a short distance, generally to small subdivisions. District buses drove down these roads in the past, making house to house pickups. According to the new policy, the pickups will be at the main road.

Hamilton said this will mean fewer stops for the buses, speedier routes, and a savings on gas.

Reflecting higher food prices, the district has now raised the price of school lunches. Lunches for students K-4 go from 40 cents to 45 cents, 5-12 from 45 cents to 50 cents, and adult meals from 75 cents to 85 cents. In addition to the general higher cost of food, the price increases reflect higher labor costs, and the end of federal subsidizing of milk.

Both Hamilton and Hicken said conditions being what they are they might have to come back to the board in September and ask for another lunch price raise. Hamilton said things might get so bad the district would have to go to a straight soup and sandwich menu.

In other action, the board named the law firm of Schunk and Torraca school attorneys. The firm replaces Wendell Harp, who had held the post for several years. Hicken said the change was made solely on the basis of "availability," and praised Harp's work for the district. Philip Schunk, attorney for Ulster County BOCES, will be the primary contact, Hicken said, with Joseph Torraca, the Marlboro School District attorney, available if Schunk was not.

Schunk also serves as attorney for the New Paltz Village Planning Board, and Torraca holds the same position with the town planning board. Hicken said he saw no conflict of interest in the situation, and felt the attorneys could provide "valuable input" through their positions to the district.

Hicken said the district was ready for a "very smooth" opening, though the high school was "really packed." He said the high school would open the school year at 104 per cent capacity, with storerooms and other facilities having to be used for classrooms.

The final tax rates have been set, and because of the higher than anticipated assessed valuation of the property in the district will represent a break for the taxpayer. In New Paltz, according to Hamilton, it had been projected that the tax rate would rise $11.95 per thousand of assessed valuation. The final rate now shows a rise of $10.38 per thousand, the rate going from $203.66 per thousand to $214.04.

The board made a number of appointments in its last regular meeting before the opening of school, the main one being the appointments of Harry McMahon as Middle School guidance counselor, John L. Wyman to again be director of continuing education, and Marc Kamin as school community service coordinator.

The number of applicants the district had for its available teaching positions clearly demonstrated that the days of a shortage of teachers are over. The number of applicants for a single position ranged as high as 147, according to Hicken.

Dutchess County Fair... 56,000 in First Two Days

RHINEBECK
More than 56,000 persons have already paid their way through the gates of the Dutchess County Fair in its first two days.

The figures are "about par," noted a fair spokesman today, with no records set for either day.

On Tuesday, opening day, attendance was 33,797. And, following the usual trend, Wednesday's figures slacked off to 22,752.

As the last of the 128th Dutchess County Fair fireworks faded into history last night, officials and concessionaires girded for the four remaining days that they expect will ultimately bring more than 180,000 persons to the Rhinebeck grounds.

One of the largest attractions over the years has been the auto thrill show at the grandstand. Today is officially entitled "Thrill Show Day," and the Joe Chitwood show will begin at 8 p.m. Two shows are also scheduled for tomorrow, "Jazz Festival Day," at 2 and 8 p.m.

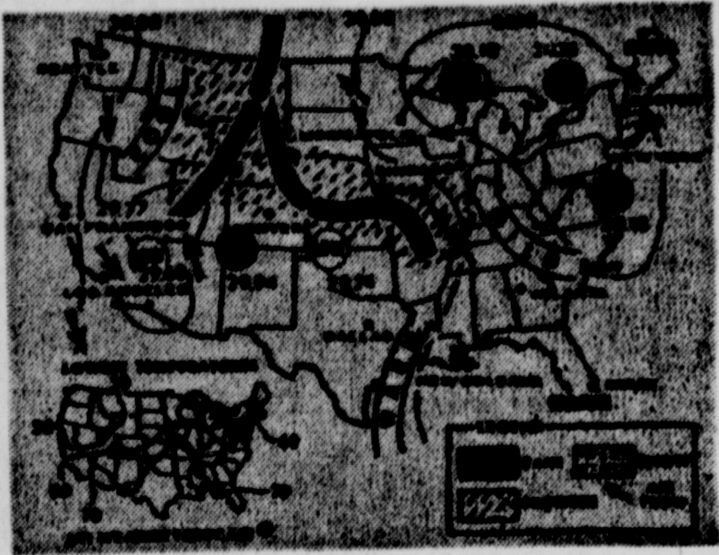

And today is the second of only two days that children under 16 years of age will be admitted free of charge until 6 p.m.

A look at other attractions at the fair today, in addition to the regular run of entertainment and exhibits on the 55-acre grounds, shows a 6:30 p.m. band concert and 7:30-10:30 p.m. dance night with live band, both offered at the dance tent.

Shepherds and their flocks will be spotlighted at 7 p.m. on Livestock Hill when a shearing, spinning, and weaving demonstration will be held for public benefit.

And some Friday special events will include a 9 a.m. English Horse Show; 11 a.m. Senior Citizen program (with Dutchess County senior citizens admitted free of charge with identification); and "Giants of Jazz" at the dance tent from 8:30-11 p.m., featuring famous jazz artists of big band renown.

Johnson, Kennedy Officials Deny Break-in Knowledge

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon claims burglaries such as the one in the Daniel Ellsberg case occurred "on a very large scale" during the Johnson and Kennedy years.

But some officials from those administrations deny any knowledge of such break-ins.

"No activity was authorized by me and I think we're entitled to know what he's talking about," said former Atty. Gen. Nicholas deB. Katzenbach, who served in the Justice Department in various positions under both Presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

George Christian, former press secretary to Johnson, said: "I don't know what he is talking about." Nixon, at his press conference Wednesday in San Clemente, Calif., said he views as "illegal, unauthorized and completely deplorable" the burglary of the office of the psychiatrist of Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg by a unit directed by White House aides.

But he also noted that under both Kennedy and Johnson, "burglarizing of this type" took place "on a very large scale."

Popularity Of President Shows Rise

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — The latest Gallup poll shows President Nixon's popularity rose following his Watergate speech last week from the all-time low it reached in early August.

However, the poll also shows a majority of Americans still disapprove of his performance in office, are dissatisfied with the explanation of Watergate in his latest speech and believe he either knew about plans to bug the Democratic headquarters or was involved in the cover-up of the Watergate break-in.

"Do you approve or disapprove of the way Nixon is handling his job as President?" the Gallup pollsters asked 1,452 adults around the country Aug. 17-20.

Thirty-eight per cent said they approved, 54 per cent said they disapproved and 8 per cent had no opinion.

The 38 per cent compares to a 31 per cent approval rating he received in an Aug. 3-6 Gallup survey, following several weeks of televised hearings on Watergate.

Those questioned in the latest poll were asked if they thought Nixon should be impeached and compelled to leave the presidency. Seventy per cent replied no, 23 per cent said yes and 1 per cent said they had no opinion.

Tape Decision Expected Next Week

WASHINGTON (AP) — The tough federal judge who presided over the Watergate trial says he will decide within a week whether to order President Nixon to release tape recordings of nine presidential conversations.

U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica, who already had received 123 pages of written argument, listened to a two-hour courtroom debate Wednesday between Watergate special prosecutor Archibald Cox and Charles Alan Wright, President Nixon's lawyer.

He said he would rule by next Wednesday on Cox's request that he order the President to obey a subpoena demanding the tapes of conversations about Watergate.

Wright disclosed in his argument that he has not heard the tapes.

"The President has told me that in one of the tapes there is national security information so sensitive that he does not feel free even to reveal it to me," Wright said.

Cox argued that the President's "duty to produce evidence is a firm legal duty and involves no judgment on his part."

"The President has no power, like a king, to withhold evidence from a court."

In his news conference Wednesday, the President repeated that "we will not agree to the Senate committee's desire to have, for example, its chief investigator listen to the tapes, or the special prosecutor's desire to listen to the tapes also."

Nixon said he would oppose "any compromise to the principle of confidentiality."

Wright argued that "if we go back only 18 months... nobody of responsible opinion said that the court has the power to overrule the judgment of the President."

It was Watergate, said

Wright, that has brought about this change in interpretation of the Constitution.

Wright also contended that to hold that Sirica, a district court judge, has the power to order the President to surrender confidential documents would set a precedent for all 400 federal District court judges in the country.

"Some would interpret the precedent narrowly... others, I fear, less narrowly," Wright argued.

Nixon Backing Agnew

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. Wednesday by White House (AP) — President Nixon has Chief of Staff Alexander Haig declared his continued strong support of Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and has personally asked the Justice Department to investigate news leaks about a criminal investigation in which Agnew is involved.

Nixon's request for an investigation was relayed to Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson on Wednesday. The spokesman, John Hushon, added that Richardson would take "every reasonable step" to plug the leaks.

At a news conference here Wednesday, Nixon said he welcomed the chance to respond to reports that he no longer fully supported Agnew now that the vice president is involved in a Baltimore grand jury probe of alleged kickbacks and political corruption.

"I want to set the record straight," Nixon told newsmen in his first personal, public statement on Agnew's legal troubles. "I had confidence in the integrity of the vice president when I selected him as vice president... My confidence in his integrity has not been shaken. In fact, it has been strengthened by his courageous conduct and his ability..."

Nixon said he felt it improper to comment on specific allegations against Agnew because the matter is before a grand jury which legally conducts its business secretly. He also declined comment on whether Agnew would be asked to resign if indicted. Nixon called such speculation inappropriate.

Nixon made his statement less than 24 hours after Agnew had publicly accused unnamed Justice Department officials of leaking investigative information in a deliberate smear campaign aimed at affecting the grand jury's deliberations.

Richardson has said there is no evidence of such tactics at this time.

George Beall, the U.S. attorney in Baltimore who is heading the probe, notified Agnew Aug. 2 that he was under investigation for possible violations of tax, extortion, conspiracy and bribery laws in connection with allegations that Maryland contractors paid off politicians for favored treatment in job awards.

Agnew has flatly denied all allegations against him.

In another development, the committee which sponsored the "Salute to Ted Agnew Night" fund raising dinner last year was named in an indictment charging violations of Maryland election law. The 19-member committee was accused of falsifying financial reports involved in the event.

Chile Fears An Invasion

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — President Salvador Allende met with his national security council Wednesday night, and congressional sources said they discussed the threat of an invasion by Bolivia.

"The situation is delicate," Adm. Raul Montero, the commander of the navy, told newsmen. He would not elaborate. But there were unconfirmed reports of Bolivian troop movements along Chile's north-eastern frontier.

Several opposition congressmen claimed the leftist government was circulating the reports to divert attention from the strikes plaguing the government.

Chile and Bolivia severed diplomatic relations 10 years ago over a river dispute but they have not been on friendly terms for a century. Bolivia lost its access to the sea when victorious Chile seized the port of Antofagasta during the 1879 War of the Pacific against Bolivia and Peru.

Shortly before Allende met with the security council, the House of Deputies adopted a resolution accusing the Marxist president of "overstepping the constitution and the law." The resolution, which passed on an 81-47 vote, carries no legal sanctions. But it reflected the concern of the opposition majority in Congress over the street battles in which scores of persons were wounded during a 48-hour general strike Tuesday and Wednesday.

Meanwhile, the 140,000 members of the merchants' confederation ended their 48-hour strike against the government and planned to reopen their shops today. They didn't have much to sell, however, as much of the country's distribution system was paralyzed by the continuing truck owners' strike, now in its 29th day.

The doctors' union voted to remain on strike for three more days to press demands for the import of more medicine and medical equipment. They now are providing only emergency service.

Bullets, Tear Gas In Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Earlier in the day, small Police fired bullets and tear gas Wednesday to break up rampaging youths marking the first anniversary of the killing of 16 imprisoned leftist guerrillas. Hospitals reported "several persons" treated for bullet wounds.

Police sources said the demonstrators set fire to a patrol car and that four policemen were wounded in the clash. They reported no deaths, but hospital spokesmen said "several persons with bullet wounds were treated." News-men estimated 100 persons were arrested.

Thousands of young persons defying a Peronist government ban on street rallies converged on the plaza in front of the congress building Wednesday night carrying guerrilla flags, chanting, singing and listening to speeches.

Police made no attempt to break up the crowd but as it dispersed, part of the group began hurling molotov cocktails.

Riot police charged the group, firing bullets into the air, and the crowd scattered for cover. After firing volleys of tear gas, police rounded up hundreds of youths. Some were released after questioning, others were detained.

Mexico President Tours Flood Area

IRAPUATO, Mexico (UPI) — President Luis Echeverria Wednesday toured flood-ravaged Irapuato where thousands of homes were wiped out and an estimated 300 persons died when a dam burst, sending a seven-foot-high wall of water crashing into the city.

A cameraman who flew over the scene Tuesday said it looked "really bad—like Managua after the (Dec. 23, 1972) earthquake. At least 40,000 houses were destroyed."

Larger buildings remained standing but most of the town's adobe houses were washed away.

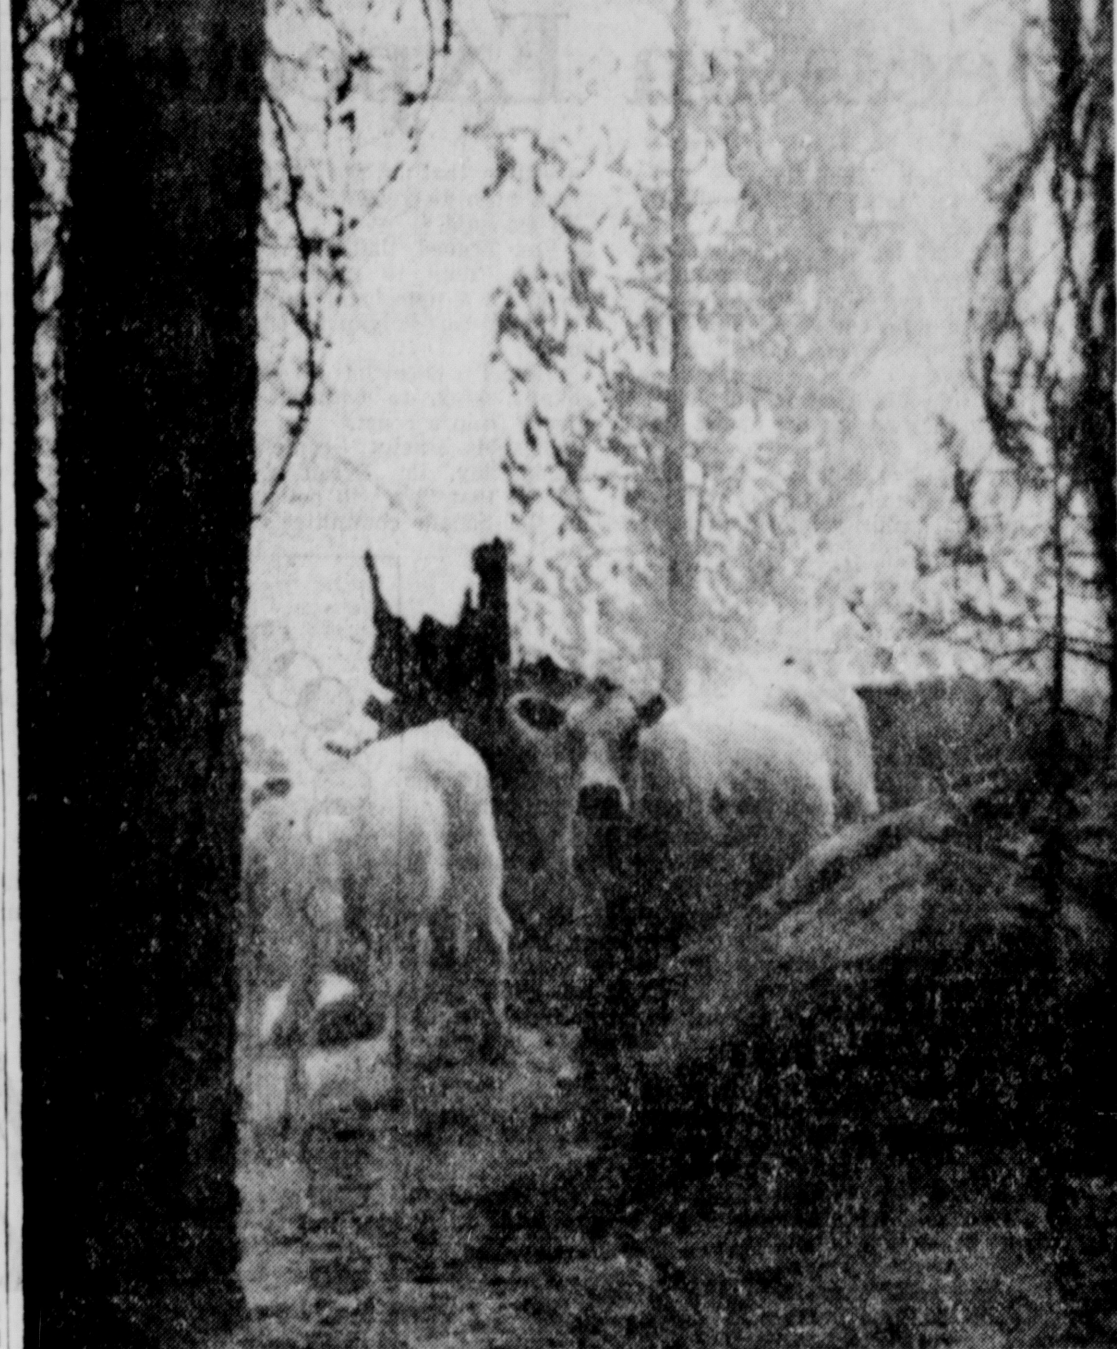

Army teams dug through the mud and debris searching for victims. The army said 124 persons were confirmed dead but some sources said the death toll may rise to 300.

The disaster struck this central Mexico city of 180,000 persons Monday, the same day Hurricane Brenda slammed into Mexico's eastern coast and killed at least five persons.

After weeks of pounding rain that had already lashed a seven-state area in central Mexico, Irapuato's nearby Conejos Dam broke and sent tons of water gushing through the city.

"The dam broke while people were sleeping and the water rushed seven feet high," the cameraman said. "It covered the town in a few minutes."

City officials estimated damage at $80 million. Relief officials said at least half and possibly all the buildings in town suffered serious interior damage.

'Very Serious' Is Condition Of Swedish King

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — King Gustaf VI Adolf of Sweden, who underwent surgery two days ago for intestinal bleeding, has contracted pneumonia and his physician today termed the complication "very serious."

A hospital communique signed by Prof. Gunnar Bioerck, the king's personal doctor, said the 90-year-old Swedish monarch was put back in a respirator Wednesday night when "it became difficult for the king to breathe and he showed signs of exhaustion."

The bulletin from Helsingborg Hospital in southern Sweden said X-rays showed pneumonia had set in. Bioerck said the development was "very serious."

Silent crowds gathered early today on the lawns outside the red brick hospital building after hearing the news on the radio.

"Late Wednesday night an obvious deterioration occurred unexpectedly in the king's condition," the communique said. "When it became obvious that the king would not for much longer be able to breathe, he was again placed in a respirator."

Gustaf Adolf, who turns 91 Nov. 11, was taken from his Sofiero summer palace near Helsingborg when he fell ill.

Crown Prince Carl Gustaf, 27, heir to the throne and the king's grandson, was staying nearby and was paying regular visits to the ailing monarch.

Lightning Starts Timber, Brush Fires

By United Press International

Fire fighters in Idaho and Montana played hop-scotch today with nearly 100 small timber and brush fires touched off by lightning. In California, the spread of two big forest blazes was stopped.

U.S. Forest Rangers at Boise, Idaho, reported that there were only seven major fires still out of control in the West and they had consumed nearly 70,000 acres of timber and brush land. They said 43 fires, covering 130,000 acres, were now under control.

The fires have been plaguing the West the past week. Dry weather, wind and lightning contributed to the problems for an army of firemen and fleet of air tankers.

Fred McBride of the intelligence section of the Boise Interagency Fire Center said officials hoped that all the big fires would be under control by the weekend.

As for the lightning-caused blazes, he said, "We're hoping we can stay on top of these."

In California, one fire in the Sierra near Lake Tahoe charred 10,000 acres but the flames were not spreading. And in the northern part of the state flames in a 19,500-acre brush blaze were corralled near Red Bluff.

Firemen at the Pine Creek blaze in the Boise National Forest were having their logistical and health problems. Some 45 men have come down with a pneumonia-like illness which has sidelined them. One man was hospitalized. And Wally Porter, a National Forest Service supply officer, said he was having trouble getting meat for the men.

"We try to feed these guys at least five to six pounds of food and liquid every day," Porter said. "We are having trouble getting what we ordered from suppliers. If we order beef, we may get chicken. But we have adequate food."

There were 650 men on the fire line at Pine Creek.

Another Price Surge Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration economists have acknowledged that post-freeze price increases were higher than expected.

The council invited public comment on the regulations until Sept. 4, after which they could be revised.

Under the prevailing temporary food regulations that went into effect on July 18, all levels of the food industry may increase prices only to reflect increased costs at the producer level, known as raw agricultural costs.

The new regulations will allow food wholesalers and retailers, such as supermarkets, to increase their prices to reflect other justified costs, such as for labor or transportation.

They will not allow price increases for profit. A supermarket, for example, must maintain the same profit margin, or margin, as it had in a base period.

The base period can be either of the two fiscal years ending before Feb. 5.

Consumers can expect another surge in food prices after Sept. 12, but the administration says it shouldn't be as bad as the last big increase.

The Cost of Living Council Wednesday released its proposed new Phase 4 food price controls scheduled to take effect Sept. 12.

The council said the controls basically will put the food industry under the same restrictions on price increases as the rest of the economy.

Officials said the controls will require "a substantial cost absorption on the part of food wholesalers and retailers" and will keep prices below what they might otherwise be.

Council director John T. Dunlop said "some price increases at the consumer level are expected" when the regulations go into effect. But he predicted consumers would not be as hard-hit as they were when the price freeze was lifted from food on July 13.

Miller Running for Supervisor

Saugerties Town Demos Nominate Full Slate

SAUGERTIES candidates for four year terms as town councilmen: Alphonse Ferrara, the acting highway superintendent, who will be running for a full two-year term in that office; Martin Henderson, seeking a four year term as town justice; Mrs. Jane Chodaba, running for a four year term as tax collector; and Mrs. Nancy Claffone, candidate for a two-year term as town clerk. None of the seven positions was contested.

Paul Miller, a free lance writer and former business executive, was named the party's candidate for a two year term as supervisor. He will be joined on the ticket by Charles Ollinger and Gertrude M. Lee.

Miller, formerly an executive with the firm, and also faces an automobile agency, are the first try for office. He is parents of three children. Mrs. Lee, a native of worker by Republic Aviation for Massachusetts, has resided in five years and also worked as the town for about four years, a department head for five years for the New York City firm of Lord and Taylor. She has been active in the League of Women Voters and with the town planning board, for which she has chaired several committees.

Ferrara, a highway department foreman for four years, was appointed acting superintendent of highways three months ago. A lifetime town resident and a Saugerties High School graduate, he has had extensive experience as a mechanic and truck driver.

Henderson, an attorney, is chosen in routine fashion, but employed by the New York State Department of Social Services. A graduate of Northwestern University and the Indiana University School of Law, he has also practiced law privately in Woodstock. He and his wife are the parents of one son.

Mrs. Chodaba, an IBM employee, has lived in the town for more than 16 years. She studied business courses in high school and has had extensive experience in business as a clerical worker and cashier.

Mrs. Claffone, attended Clark University and formerly worked for IBM as a researcher. She and her husband, an IBM employee, are the parents of three children. The party caucus was held in the Flamingo Restaurant on Route 9W. It began at 8 p.m. and proceeded smoothly as all candidates except Miller were chosen in routine fashion, but an announced half-hour break at 9 p.m. stretched to two hours as town party Chairman Maurice Hinchey Jr. and committee members engaged in a series of backstage maneuvers while seeking endorsements from the Conservative Party, which caucused in another room at the Flamingo.

Shortly after the Conservative caucus broke up, Hinchey reconvened the Democratic meeting and Miller was chosen. Ferrara turned out to be the only one of the seven Democratic candidates to receive Conservative endorsement.

Conservatives Go 6-1 For Republican Nominees

The Town of Saugerties Conservative Party Wednesday night endorsed six Republicans and one Democrat in the races for town offices in November.

Following a three-hour caucus at the Flamingo Restaurant on Route 9W, party chairman Frank Greimel announced that the party would support Republican Charles H. Goertz of Lodge Road, Saugerties, in his try for a two-year term as supervisor. Other GOP candidates receiving the Conservative nod were Clarence E. Gardner of Malden and Francis J. Hallion, an incumbent, for four-year terms as councilmen; Marion Newkirk of Saugerties, the incumbent, who seeks another two year term as town clerk; Robert P. Schirmer of Saugerties, trying for a four year term as town justice; and William A. Woestendiek of Saugerties, the incumbent tax collector seeking another four year term.

The lone Democrat to break into the Republican lineup was Alphonse "Al" Ferrara, the acting highway superintendent for the past three months, who is running for a two year term in that position. After the caucus Greimel declined to comment on the party's choice of candidates to endorse and its failure to name any candidates of its own for the seven town offices, but said he would have a statement at a later date.

INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE—County Legislator Douglas V. Dye (R-Dist. 2), second right, who is seeking another term as an independent candidate, is shown with petitions which he filed Wednesday. Dye "easily" secured 600 signatures on the petitions for which 247 names were required. Shown with him are his key campaign workers (L) Ethel Thomas of the Town of Ulster, Rosalie Kilfoyle, Town of Kingston; Ruth Dixon, Town of Kingston; Dye and Vincent Chiarante, Town of Ulster. Dye said he would campaign on the issues "not personalities." (Freeman photo by Haines)

Marbletown GOP Nominates Smith

Incumbent Marbletown Supervisor Kenneth D. Smith was an easy winner over Dr. Robert Diamond, incumbent of the Republican nomination for town justice and William S. Coler Jr., town justice. Coler was previously appointed to that post to fill out the unexpired term of Edmund Ruffner.

Smith is seeking his third term as supervisor. A 40-year resident of Marbletown, he was formerly a administrative assistant to the Marbletown Town Board, Planning Board and Board of Appeals. He resides on Smith Lane, onsville, named for his family. An Ulster County voter for 35 years, he was engaged in the sales field in Westchester County for 34 years. He is campaigning on his record which includes the formation of a new Recreation Commission and the establishment of an Environmental Conservation Commission. He has also expanded activities and benefits for youths as well as senior citizens.

Rhinebeck Demos Name Candidates

After lengthy Wednesday night deliberations, Rhinebeck Democrats came up with four candidates for town office in November elections.

There are eight vacancies in the town, with the latest filing date for candidates today. A committee on vacancies was appointed in the event that further vacancies among those selected do occur. That committee is composed of Pat McCarthy, Eleanor Closs, and James Hawco.

Audrey McLaughlin was nominated for councilman, four years. She works in the Dutchess County District Attorney's office and lives on Mill Road. James Loftus Jr. of Rhinecliff was given the nod for councilman, two years. Sheldon Ruf. Springbrook Drive, was nominated for town justice. And Basil Kilmer, Rhinecliff, was given party designation for superintendent of highways.

The town Democratic party has had a policy of some twenty years standing on not running candidates for assessors, as they feel, said Hawco, that assessors should be appointed on a professional basis. There are two vacancies this November for assessors, a four year and a two year term. And the remaining two spots, supervisor and another four year councilman term, remain unfilled.

It was stated several times that the Republican Party in Rhinebeck was weakest in its offerings for councilmen this fall.

Those nominated for four-year town councilman posts were George Villm of Ulster Park and Thomas Johnson of Slightsburg. John Grady of Rifton received the Conservative nod for the two-year councilman post. Lawrence Hiller was nominated to run for the four-year town justice post. Thirteen candidates actively sought the Conservative endorsement for the town offices.

Freer Endorsed
TOWN OF ESOPUS
The Town of Esopus Conservative Party has endorsed two Democrats and five Republicans in their bids for town posts in the upcoming November elections.
Those nominated include incumbent supervisor George H. Freer, Mrs. Marilyn Coffey of St. Remy for town clerk, and Mrs. Helen Dargie of New Salem for tax collector.

Those nominated for four-year town councilman posts were George Villm of Ulster Park and Thomas Johnson of Slightsburg. John Grady of Rifton received the Conservative nod for the two-year councilman post. Lawrence Hiller was nominated to run for the four-year town justice post. Thirteen candidates actively sought the Conservative endorsement for the town offices.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, AUGUST 23, 1973

By JACK ANDERSON

LES WHITTEN

WASHINGTON — To put the Indians who rampaged through the Bureau of Indian Affairs in the worst possible light, the government grossly overstated the damage they had done. It also grossly understated the support of their goals among other Indians. When the militant Trail of Broken Treaties caravan vacated the building last November, the government announced that only the burning of Washington by the British in 1814 and the San Francisco earthquake caused greater damage. Fearful that the militants' ideas would be adopted by young Indians all over America, the government paid to fly Indians to Washington to join it in denouncing the BIA occupiers as urban upstarts who had no support among reservation tribes. We have now obtained an in-depth study by the House Appropriations Committee marked "Not for Release Until Authorized by Committee." In calm language, it firmly disputes many of the Nixon Administration's assertions.

DAMAGE TOTAL

The document reports that instead of the $2.28 million damage estimated by the Administration, the actual total is closer to $1.5 million. Both figures include lost wages and similar costs.

As to charges that the occupiers were merely rabble-rousing city malcontents without real reservation membership, the House staff study found just the opposite was true. Based on the best available figures, "over 50 percent of the Trail of Broken Treaties participants were reservation Indians." When rural and college Indians temporarily away from reservations were included, the figure was "close to . . . 70 percent."

Like most Americans, many Indians saw the BIA takeover as "an exercise in futility" and they viewed the destruction with "scorn." But Indians also confided to the House probers that the militants' "Twenty Points . . . emboldened long-held Indian grievances and established a position they would support." All but forgotten in the hysteria of the BIA coup, the Twenty Points were demands for enforcement of present treaties, home rule by Indians on Indian lands, return of much Indian land and federal social help.

PRISON INMATES

In South Dakota, for instance, the Indians "account for merely one-twelfth of the population (but) one-half of the girls committed to reform schools and one-third of the male inmates at the state prison," said the report.

The House investigators spent more than three months trudging through six states to interview Indians of all persuasions and found generally they "believe they have been making greater strides than ever before . . . through legitimate channels by authorized leadership."

They found that many Indians denounced the American Indian Movement which led the BIA takeover. But "among young people . . . a new sense of pride in being Indian has created a fertile field (for) AIM."

The House probers vigorously attacked "the dual standards of certain law enforcement agencies in their treatment of Indians, ranging from neglect to harassment, depending on whether Indians are the victims or perpetrators of the crime."

'UNCLE TOMAHAWKS'

The investigation also dealt courageously with what pro-Indian whites only whisper about: the corruption and inefficiency among tribal councilmen who are denounced by young Indians as "Uncle Tomahawks."

Because councilmen get $50 a day and per diem expenses while their councils are in session, "the job has become highly desirable and has given rise to excesses in political machinations. . . ."

Many councilmen "are unqualified for leadership, suffer inadequacies because of personal problems, lack the business acumen necessary . . . and generally neglect the responsibilities. . . ."

But the federal government drains away many of the best potential leaders to work for the Bureau of Indian Affairs, thus often leaving the tribes leaderless. "Tribes are attempting to function in the 1970s with outmoded government structures designed in 1934," the document concludes.

FOOTNOTE: One of the foremost Indians held up by conservative leaders is the part-Cherokee former board chairman of Phillips Petroleum, W. W. Keeler. Keeler was revealed a few days ago as making an illegal $100,000 gift of Phillips corporate funds to the Nixon campaign.

NAVY BLUES: Shortly before Navy Secretary John Chafee departed, he decreed that sailors could wear handsome jacket-type uniforms instead of the traditional whites and blues.

But someone failed to take into account the fact that the blues and whites can be rolled compactly, while the new uniforms must be hung in lockers. Now, the Navy must buy some 300,000 larger lockers and find places to put them in the already short-spaced ships.

To make matters worse, some fleet admirals got tired of waiting for Navy contract officers to provide the lockers and began buying them with funds under their own control — at up to $50 too much per locker.

On the Right

Punished for Duty Done

By WILLIAM BUCKLEY JR.

Senator William Fulbright has been severely criticized, in my opinion justly, for sitting on nominations he disapproves of with the result, in some cases, that an appointment dies as if of attrition. Most recently Mr. Fulbright's committee made news by declining to confirm McMurrie Godley as head of the division of Far Eastern Affairs in the State Department. It was not said in as many words, but everyone knew that Mr. Godley was being punished for carrying out his assignment as Ambassador to Laos with vigor and skill. It is presumably Mr. Fulbright's position that Ambassadors to Indo-Chinese countries should have served not the President, but the chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee.

I regret that Congressman John Ashbrook, a splendid gentleman of impeccable opinion, is up to the same kind of thing, or so it would appear. He is holding up the appointment of Mr. Helmut Sonnenfeldt as undersecretary of the Treasury. At this point, a distinction is very much in order.

The formal charge leveled against Mr. Sonnenfeldt is that he is a security risk — not a loyalty risk, a security risk. It is charged that during the fifties, he leaked one or more stories to the press while he was working in the State Department.

But see how the business blurs over. It happens that Mr. Sonnenfeldt was prominently involved in advancing Mr. Nixon's trips to the Soviet Union and to China, and as such became identified in the eyes of certain Congressmen as a sort of flying wedge of the detente-people, who should not be encouraged by giving him the Undersecretaryship of the Treasury, which will be a key position in all the trade we will be getting into with Russia and China in the months and years to come.

Let us say about the security charge merely that if in fact it is established that Mr. Sonnenfeldt is unreliable, then he should pay the penalty other security risks pay.

But Mr. Ashbrook does not appear to be pressing the formal security charges very vigorously. Meanwhile, over at the Senate, the Finance Committee, under the leadership of Senators Harry Byrd and Carl Curtis, sensing that perhaps Mr. Ashbrook is on to something, are holding up confirmation under the guise of routine courtesy paid to the other chamber.

What it comes down to, in fact — barring the documentation of the security charge — is a kind of harassment against the Nixon wing that brought off the China and Russia ventures. Concerning which harassment, two things need to be said:

1) If conservatives permit this kind of thing, how can they in the future blame Senator Fulbright for exacting mutinous compliance from appointees before they become approved? Do we really desire a Foreign Service staffed with officers who will do their jobs sluggishly against the possibility of a reversal of policy?

2) The half-dozen Americans excellently situated to know will tell you — and I hope Mr. Ashbrook will in due course seek them out — that Mr. Sonnenfeldt is in fact a brilliant asset to those in the government who want to bargain with the Soviet Union and to get the best we can in the process. I have not met anyone who has worked side by side with him who thinks him less than a huge asset sitting opposite a table from a communist agent.

Mr. Sonnenfeldt was born in Germany and went to school there, and when he discovered that in the late fifties his telephone was being tapped pursuant to the charge filed against him, he would amuse himself, as young men will do and some older men, by speaking in rapid German to a friend in the State Department. Never mind that the friend in question has been the spinal column of the anti-communists there for a generation — the security officials evidently took greater offense at Sonnenfeldt's using a foreign language in faithful obstruction of their mission, than in meditating on whom he was talking to, and why. If someone from the State Department were to call J. Edgar Hoover and talk to him in Pig Latin, surely the primary entry in the bugger's log should be not that he spoke in Pig Latin, but that he called J. Edgar Hoover?

One can only hope that without transforming Mr. Sonnenfeldt into an undesirable government official on the ground that he is too hawkish, the conservative gentlemen in both houses will ease up and let the nomination go through.

Washington Calling

Independent GOP'ers on Their Own

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — The late summer smog in this capital is compounded by the miasma of doubt and suspicion that is a heritage of Watergate. How much President Nixon has done to dispel the fog by his televised address the days ahead will tell. As for his Vice President, Spiro Agnew, the cloud hangs heavy over his head growing out of the charges of corruption and fraud in the letter sent him by United States District Attorney George Beall notifying him he was under investigation.

Since the Agnew story broke with the charges based in large part on Agnew's record as governor of Maryland, the media have had a field day with the politics of that ancient state. A catalogue of horrors is starred with the conviction of former Sen. Daniel Brewster for accepting a bribe.

Against the background of gloom and doom this observer would like to record an example that goes directly contrary to the current cynicism that all politicians are crooked. In Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr. Maryland has one of the ablest men in the Congress. A Republican, he defeated Brewster, a Democrat, in 1968 which means he will be up for reelection next year.

Mathias is one of perhaps a dozen Republican Senators who on issue after issue have asserted their independence. They have been in effect cut off from the Nixon Administration almost as completely as though they were of the opposition party. Asked when he had last visited the White House, Mathias recently replied: "When I was there the last time the food was good, the wine was good and Lyndon Johnson was a gracious host."

Although the election is a year off, these independents, along with other Republicans of similar outlook in the House, are brooding on their fate as they touch base with the voters. It is not merely the shadow cast by Watergate over their party. As he did in the 1972 campaign the President has been blithely indifferent to the fate of Congressional candidates. One of the White House lists that surfaced during the Watergate hearings was of 100 Democrats friendly to the Administration in whose districts Republican efforts were to be held to a minimum.

Mathias and like-minded Republicans realize they will be on their own in 1974. Even if the President should decide to give aid and succor to those who have often dissented from his policies, it is doubtful how much his help would count. Last year he went into Rhode Island to boost former Secretary of the Navy John Chafee to defeat Sen. Claiborne Pell. Pell won by a comfortable margin.

Voting to cut off all bombing in Cambodia, Mathias opposed the Aug. 15 compromise as a capitulation to the President's war policy. He voted against the President's nominees to the Supreme Court. Clement F. Haynsworth and G. Harrold Carswell. The last was the unforgivable sin as the President made plain when he excoriated the Senate for turning down the two candidates he had proposed.

Countering the cynical admonition that surfaced in the Watergate hearings — stay out of politics and government — Mathias came up through the political ranks. After service in the Navy he was Assistant Attorney General of Maryland and later was elected to the House of Representatives before his election to the Senate.

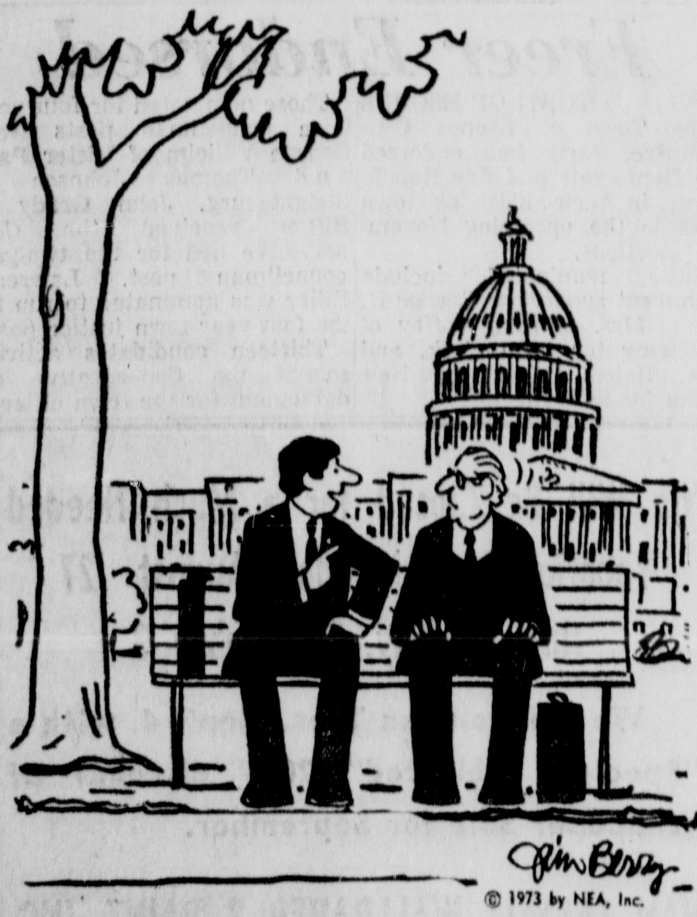

While it is much too early to indulge in predictions about '74, if able, independent men like Mathias are knocked off next year the tragedy of Watergate will be multiplied by a geometric ratio. His roots are deep in his native state and he has moderate independent means, an advantage in these items when the smell of outside money sets the bloodhounds of righteousness to baying. As in other states the Democrats in Maryland are in disarray. They are snarled in the same web of campaign contributions and contributions in which Agnew is caught up.

The Vice President as a Marylander is continuing to make the correct political moves. He went down to the Eastern shore to speak at a bull roast for Arthur Bauman, the Republican candidate in a special election to fill the seat of William O. Mills. Accused in a matter involving campaign contributions Mills committed suicide. Rated a victim of the current atmosphere, those who knew Mills were astonished saying he could easily have refuted the charge.

What happens before the grand jury in Baltimore will determine far more than the fate of the former governor who was plummeted into national fame in the Vice Presidency. They outcome can set the stage not only for '74 but for 1976.

After Warning From State

Mineral Water Proprietor Up in Arms

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — The proprietor of the Hathorn Spring peanut and souvenir stand here is mad at the state—all over a glass of water.

"I can lick any 65-year-old politician in Albany who drinks alcohol in preference to mineral water," says Douglas Lawrence, who has been serving up cups of water from Hathorn Spring No. 1 for 18 years.

The state Department of Health warned people last month not to drink over one glass per week of the area's mineral water because of radium content.

Lawrence says income from his stand since then has slumped 75 per cent. He also receives a fulltime paycheck from the Saratoga County sheriff's department.

The possibility that the mineral water has a harmful effect, in his eyes, is "just crazy."

Lawrence's operation is an old-fashioned boardwalk-like walkup booth atop Hathorn Spring No. 1. There for the buying are hot peanuts and popcorn, commemorative dishes, banners and cups and bottles for the sampling of the strong-smelling mineral water.

The state Health Department first warned of high concentrations of radium 226 in Saratoga mineral water two years ago. But Lawrence's problems did not develop until last month's one glass per week recommendation.

A preliminary and unofficial state analysis of the water at Lawrence's spring showed 220 pico-curies of radium per liter of water, well above the figure considered safe for normal drinking.

With its warning last month, the health department posted signs within the state-owned Saratoga Spa Reservation. Signs recommending the one glass per week limit were not posted at several springs scattered throughout the city proper, however. Health department officials say they will make recommendations shortly about the non-state owned facilities.

William St. Thomas of Gloversville, chairman of the Saratoga-Capital District State Park Commission, which oversees the Spa Reservation, also disagrees with state findings about the water. He hopes the park commission will launch its own study.

The Saratoga Springs Chamber of Commerce is pushing for an independent analysis of local mineral springs.

Blue Shield to Hire Ombudsman

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Blue Shield, which is seeking a rate increase for some 175,000 of its subscribers in upstate New York, says it plans to hire an ombudsman.

The ombudsman will act as "a pipeline to the subscribers" and help the health insurance company know if it is responding to its customers' needs, a company official said Tuesday.

Ralph Hammersly Jr., executive director of Blue Shield of Northeastern New York, disclosed the ombudsman plan at a state Insurance Department hearing into the company's proposal for a rate increase.

He had been asked by department examiners at the hearing what steps the company would take to insure that customers were satisfied with its policies.

Hammersly said the firm had been using its sales personnel as the main source of information on that subject, but now felt the ombudsman approach would be better.

The hearing was attended by eight Blue Shield officials and some reporters. No members of the public appeared to speak for or against the rate increase.

The proposed new rates would affect only those Blue Shield subscribers who buy their policies on an individual, family or small-group basis.

The rate increases would average about 15 per cent. The hikes would range from 6 per cent on one group plan to 24.3 per cent on a plan that supplements Medicare benefits for the elderly.

A major factor in the proposed rate increase is Blue Shield's intention to raise its payment schedule for doctors' services by 5 per cent, the first such increase since 1970.

Hammersly said that even under the new rates physicians would be getting "much less" for treating Blue Shield patients than they do for other patients.

He cited cost increases as the other important reason for the company's application for higher rates.

FAST LOANS FOR THE COMPANY PRESIDENT OR THE SECRETARIES.

Listen, we live here in town. A young, single secretary who lives here, comes in and tells us she has a smashing deal on a charter to London; she needs the money right away, and she promises to pay it back; will we say no?

Hardly ever.

In fact, she can come into Chase Manhattan for an instalment loan, and our loan officer will love it. It makes his day, and it could make her year.

He'll also tell her this: if she has a Chase checking account, she could get a loan without even coming into the bank. It's called Cash Reserve checking. After you arrange for a line of credit, you just write a check for the amount you need, any time you need it, even if your checking account is empty. When the check comes through, we lend you the money automatically by putting the cash in your checking account.

There's another way to get money from Chase. Suppose you spot a great buy on a dress. Payday is four days away; you're flat. Well, just show us your BankAmericard®. No fancy paperwork, and it takes just three minutes. (If you don't have a card, you can get one from Chase. No charge.)

Each Chase borrowing system is the right one at different times, for different reasons. They all help you do one thing: manage your money. Sometimes called budgeting by non-bankers. Borrowing money to buy something now when you'll have the money later is part of managing money. Business works that way; there's no reason you can't.

And no bank has more money managing conveniences than Chase.

Borrowing can be a very heavy subject, but it doesn't have to be a hassle—not for secretaries, not for bricklayers, not for dentists, not for the company president, not for anybody who banks at Chase.

Whatever you do for a living, you have a friend at

LETTER BOMB SEARCH—Policeman removes suspected letter bombs from sandbagged protection as he awaits bomb disposal experts from London, 32 miles south of Luton. Other bombs were found throughout the London area and police said they believed bombs were being spread by Irish extremists. (UPI Telephoto)

City Child Drowns Near Glens Falls

GLEN FALLS County Sheriff's Department investigated the mishap. They reported today that the youngster was apparently standing alone on a retaining wall near a private beach along the shoreline. They said the boy either tripped or slipped off the retaining wall into the shallow water.

The mishap, said police, was observed by two men standing nearby — John Gardiner of Glen Lake and Gary Toomy of Colonie. They rushed to the retaining wall, but darkness impeded their search for the youngster. Chaires Lambert's body was pulled from the water several minutes later.

The boy was rushed to Glens Falls Hospital by the Bay Ridge Ambulance Service, where he was pronounced dead on arrival. An autopsy is to be performed.

Police said the boy's parents were apparently vacationing in the Glen Lake area. Richard Lambert is a paving contractor in Kingston.

In Greene County, 29-year-old Ronald G. Leonard of Route 32, Modena was killed at about 11:15 p.m. Wednesday when his car failed to negotiate a curve on Route 23B and overturned. Leeds state police said Leonard was ejected through the car's windshield.

Leonard was traveling alone at the time. He died shortly before midnight at the Greene County Memorial Hospital in Catskill.

FAA Radio Aids Passenger Land Plane

KENAI, Alaska (UPI) — A passenger who landed a light float plane after the pilot died at the controls today praised the FAA radio operator who talked him down.

"The guy who really got me home was the person on the radio. I was in the middle of a circle and without him, Lord knows where I would have turned up," Sheldon P. Taylor, 62, Cromberg, Calif., said.

Taylor, who had limited flying experience, brought the Cessna 180 float plane in safely with the radio guidance Tuesday.

"It is rather harrowing having your very good friend dead in the next seat," Taylor said.

He and the pilot, William W. Renfrew Sr., 64, Anchorage, were en route from Anchorage to Iliamna.

"We got up to 8,000 feet and turned around to find a hole in the clouds. Almost simultaneously to finding a hole, he (Renfrew) expired," Taylor recalled.

Taylor said he had "a few hundred hours" flying time years ago.

Dick Bliss, flight service operator at Kenai, said Taylor contacted him by radio and said the pilot had apparently suffered a heart attack. Bliss said he used a radio direction finder to locate Taylor's position and gave him a vector to Kenai, which had a 400-foot ceiling and two miles of visibility.

Mental Tests Are Ordered

HOUSTON (AP) — District Court Judge William Hatten overrode defense objections Wednesday and ordered psychiatric examinations for two defendants in the sex-torture mass murders.

At the same time, Hatten postponed until Oct. 8 the arraignments of Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, and David Owen Brooks, 18.

During the hearing Hatten offered the youths an opportunity to enter pleas in the case. Both replied through their lawyers that they were not prepared to do so.

Investigators contend the two defendants aided Dean A. Corll, 33, in a three-year seige of homosexual rape, torture and murder that claimed at least 27 male victims.

Henley, a slender youth who has been indicted on three counts of murder, told police he killed Corll in self defense Aug. 8 at Corll's suburban Pasadena home.

In the grim aftermath, Henley and Brooks, who has been indicted on only one murder charge, led officers to three separate burial sites where they recovered the bodies of 27 victims.

Protest Over Government's Price Controls

Many Gasoline Stations May Shut Down Over Labor Day

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Many gasoline station operators plan to shut down over the Labor Day weekend to protest the government's Phase IV price controls, and some may do it as early as this weekend.

The American Automobile Association, in a weekly survey of gasoline supplies said today the shutdowns probably would be widespread.

Although it is still uncertain how thorough area shutdowns will be if they do occur, one state retail dealers association said it was confident 60 per cent of Pennsylvania's 10,000 dealers would close on cue from the association. AAA said in the report.

AAA said its nationwide survey showed that gasoline dealer associations "in many states and cities" were organizing closings, "some as early as the coming weekend but most planned to coincide with the long Labor Day weekend."

The protest will be aimed at profit margins allowed under Phase IV price controls. Petroleum prices have been one of the chief targets of the federal anti-inflation program.

The AAA said its 12th weekly survey, which checked 3,984 service stations across the country, showed a continued slight improvement in gasoline supplies.

The survey showed 55 per cent of the stations were operating normal hours and allowing full purchases, compared with 54 per cent last week. Other findings:

—Forty-three per cent of stations were limiting hours of operations, frequently through Sunday closings, unchanged from last week.

—Four per cent were limiting purchases, compared with 5 per cent last week.

—Six-tenths of one per cent of stations were out of one or more grades of gasoline, compared with .5 per cent last week.

—Nine-tenths of one per cent of stations were closed for lack of fuel, compared with 1.1 per cent last week, while .8 per cent expected additional cutbacks in supplies from their wholesalers, compared with one per cent last week.

The survey showed the Denver area, hardest hit in the nation, continued to improve but still reported 75 per cent of stations closing at noon Saturday until 7 a.m. Monday, 40 per cent closing at noon weekdays, and 10 per cent out of gasoline. States reporting less than 50 per cent normal operations were Idaho, 12 per cent; Kansas, 16; Maryland, 18; Washington, 22; Colorado and Oklahoma, 24; Nebraska, 30; Missouri and Oregon, 31; California and Florida, 39; Alabama and Michigan, 40; Connecticut and Massachusetts, 41; Indiana, 42; Louisiana, 45; and Iowa and Nevada, 47.

Unexpected Prosperity to Wheat Farmers

WELLINGTON, Kan. (AP) — A record Kansas wheat crop coupled with all-time high wheat prices have combined to bring unexpected prosperity to wheat farmers.

Sumner County, one of the largest producers of hard winter wheat in the nation, harvested 15.56 million bushels this year for a record average yield of 40 bushels per acre.

After years of selling their wheat for around $1.50 a bushel, or less, the county's farmers did all last year.

are realizing triple that amount. At one point earlier this month, wheat prices passed the $5 a bushel mark.

One small farmer, Elmer Headley, said he had paid all his bills after harvest for the first time in 23 years, and still has a third of his wheat left unsold. Others report they made more money on the first half of their crop this year than they did last year.

Farmers all over Sumner County are buying expensive equipment, paying off loans and building cash reserves for the bad wheat year they know will come somewhere down the line.

As John Trower put it, the wheat has allowed us to "kind of get caught up." Trower used payments for half his 1973 crop to pay off loans on land and is holding the rest until next year.

Elevator operators estimated that a fourth of the wheat harvested here remains to be sold as farmers wait, hoping for even higher wheat prices.

Hubert Sawyer, vice president of the First National Bank, said many farmers had sold just enough wheat to pay bank notes and were gambling the rest on the wheat market.

Sawyer said a tremendous amount of wheat had been sold on contract for Jan. 1, 1974, and then "there's going to be a ton of money in this area compared to last year."

"I feel they're in a heck of a good position right now," Sawyer said.

Sumner County had 387,000 acres seeded in wheat this year, a 10 per cent increase over 1972.

Merle Frame, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation

Service agent, said he estimates another 10 to 15 per cent increase in acreage because of the lifting of the government allotment limitations.

New Rabies Vaccine Being Developed

GENEVA, Switzerland (UPI) — The World Health Organization (WHO) said recently a powerful new rabies vaccine is being developed which reduces treatment from 21 injections to three at the most.

The organization said in a statement: "There is hope the vaccine will replace the old type."

WHO said improvements in the safety and potency of rabies vaccine were made possible by the application of newer viral techniques. The new vaccine is being developed by the Wistar Institute of the University of Pennsylvania and the Merieux Institute at Lyons, France, together with laboratories in other parts of the world.

"On the evidence of studies to date, vaccines of cell-culture origin for human use may be used in post-exposure treatment, since they offer distinct advantages over existing products from the standpoint of both safety and efficacy," the statement said.

According to the latest WHO survey more than a million persons annually have to undergo the present long, painful and not entirely safe course of rabies vaccinations which require daily injections for 21 days followed by regular booster injections.

The Other Day

Michael Leopold

We read, "Research at Indiana University reveals considerable evidence for the value of daytime car headlights. By their use 46 companies showed an average 38.7 per cent reduction in accidents. The Indianapolis Post Office reduced accidents from 36 to 25 in their first year of using daytime vehicle lights. A taxi company which clocked an aggregate of 3 million miles yearly had a decrease from 8 to 2 accidents attributed to daytime lights." This part of the survey alone indicates we should all follow suit, but another column or two will be developed to their findings. We strive here and in business to SERVE you.

Grand Jury Gets Shooting Case In Quarryville

SAUGERTIES

Richard Magee, 33, of Quarryville, waived preliminary examination Wednesday night on a first degree assault charge stemming from an August 14 incident in which he shot and wounded a youth who was allegedly attempting to burglarize his filling station.

Magee, represented by Attorney William Pretsch, appeared before Saugerties Town Justice Calvin H. Cody, who released him in his own recognizance. Assistant District Attorney Albert F. Hrdlicka represented the people.

Cody said that Magee's waiving of the preliminary examination means that the assault charge will be presented to the next session of the Ulster County Grand Jury for possible indictment.

According to police, the 16-year-old Greene County youth stole a truck in Palenville, was involved in an accident near Magee's station on Route 32, and allegedly began attempting to kick in the front door of the station. Police said Magee heard the noise and left his nearby house with a 22-caliber rifle. He then reportedly fired several warning shots in the air and then allegedly shot the youth in the neck.

The youth, not identified by police because of his age, was picked up nearby on Route 32 by police and taken to Benedictine Hospital for treatment. He was released two days later, and confined in the Greene County Jail in lieu of $10,000 bail to face attempted burglary and grand larceny charges.

Dollar Up; Volume Low

LONDON (AP) — The U.S. dollar moved up sharply on European foreign exchange markets today, but trading volume was low. Gold declined.

The dollar made strong advances in London, Paris, Frankfurt and Zurich, continuing the upward trend it developed last week.

Factors said to be helping the dollar include higher interest rates attracting funds out of gold, improved U.S. foreign trade figures, the belief that the dollar was undervalued during the Watergate hearings and a belief that prospects for agreement on international monetary reforms have improved.

Dealers in Frankfurt said speculation concerning U.S. and West German trade figures to be released Friday was helping the dollar in Germany. The rate was up about 1.5 pfennigs above Wednesday's close, reaching 2.4835 marks by mid-morning.

The U.S. currency moved about 3.5 centimes higher in Paris to 4.324 francs. The dollar improved in Zurich from 3.0337 Swiss francs to 3.0405.

The dollar also improved in London, with the pound quoted at $2.4582, down from $2.4660.

Gold was down a dollar in Zurich to $102 an ounce and down 50 cents in London to $102.50.

Sterling Forest Being Search For Bank Thief

TUXEDO PARK, N. Y. (UPI) — State police and officers from the Orange County town of Tuxedo, today used bloodhounds to comb Sterling Forest for a man who may have broken into a bank Wednesday night.

State police said preliminary reports showed nothing was taken in the break-in at the Sterling Forest branch of the Empire National Bank on Route 17 in Tuxedo. However, the bank will have to make a final inventory.

Tuxedo police were alerted to the break-in by an alarm system set up between the bank and their station.

When a patrol car reached the bank, a man was seen running from the bank's rear entrance and into Sterling Forest.

Area Firms Cited for Stock Fraud by SEC

NEW YORK CITY — The Security and Exchange Commission has filed anti-fraud complaints and charges of dealing in unregistered stock, totaling some $5.6 million against three firms and five individuals, located at what the SEC describes as "Hidden Valley Ranch, Kingston, N.Y."

Named in the SEC complaints filed on Wednesday were Universal Major Industries Corp., Transamerica Petroleum Corp. and Banner Oil and Gas Funds, all of Kingston (an apparent reference to Hidden Valley Ranch in the town of Rosendale) and five individuals, James G. Duncan and Robert M. Horsey, president and chairman of Universal Major, respectively, Ian McCartney, a Banner employee and two New York City attorneys, Arthur J. Homans and Edward Gedalecia, described as "outside lawyers."

Duncan's wife, Mrs. Mickey Duncan, owner-operator of Hidden Valley Ranch in Whiteport, told The Freeman that Duncan "is not connected and has not been connected with this operation (Hidden Valley) for over a year." She said that Hidden Valley was apparently Duncan's "last known address," but that he has been doing business from a Kingston office for more than a year.

Transamerica Petroleum is controlled by Duncan, listed as the company's only stockholder. Banner Oil and Gas Funds is a subsidiary of Universal Major. The SEC, in a civil action, is seeking an injunction to halt further alleged violations in issuing unregistered securities consisting of six per cent convertible debentures (bonds) and seven per cent convertible debentures and common stock of Universal Major.

The SEC is also charging that Universal Major and Duncan, Horsey and McCartney, made "false and fraudulent representations" to (potential) investors and issued misleading press statements concerning the value of Universal Major stock and the earnings and operations of the company.

An SEC spokesman told The Freeman that in selling the stock the defendants claimed that the stock, offered at $6 a share would go to $20 a share and that it would pay a dividend of $1 a share. "In fact," said the spokesman, "it stayed right around six dollars or lower and the company never showed a profit."

All three company companies are involved in the development of oil and gas wells. Universal Major is incorporated in Nevada as is Transamerica while Banner is incorporated in Maryland.

Indications are that the number of investors was somewhat limited, perhaps less than 1,000. The SEC says it does not know how many of those investors were local residents — the securities were sold on the National Exchange, an over the counter market, in New York City — but reportedly there was "substantial" investment in the local area.

According to the SEC, the unregistered securities were issued between April of 1967 and May of last year. Duncan set up Universal Major in 1966, selling debentures in the firm to raise cash to acquire fractional interest in oil and gas wells he previously had invested in.

The defendants, faced with annual interest payments of $300,000, then allegedly turned to the sale of Universal Major common stock to cover those obligations. The firm also issued common stock in lieu of cash interest on the debentures.

The defendants will appear in U.S. District Court in New York City on Sept. 19 where the SEC will seek a preliminary injunction to enjoin them from selling the unregistered stock. "If we are triumphant, the court will order the defendants not to violate the law in the future," an SEC spokesman said. "If they do violate the law in the future they could be subject to criminal contempt. This is strictly a civil action."

JOSEPH EPSTEIN

Epstein Is Named Chairman

KINGSTON

Joseph Epstein, one of the city's leading Democrats, will be chairman of the party's annual dinner, set for Sept. 22 at the Walnut Grove on Field Court, Part Chairman Lawrence E. Woerner announced today.

The chairmanship this year holds special significance for Epstein, who on his birthday, Nov. 2, will mark his 50th anniversary as an enrolled Democrat.

Referred to as "the mayor of downtown" by city Democrats, Epstein was elected to the Common Council, for the first time, in 1931 and served three terms. He ran unsuccessfully for alderman-at-large in 1937 but remained active in the party over the ensuing years. Epstein returned to the Common Council in 1965 and was reelected in 1967 to a one-year term. He chose not to run in 1968 when reapportionment placed him and Alderman Emilio A. Primo in the same ward.

Epstein was appointed an election commissioner in 1938, a post he held until Dec. 31 of last year.

In September of 1969 Epstein was awarded the contract by the United States Post Office to operate the Rondout Substation from his store at 21 Broadway. Epstein is also marking his 50th year in business in Rondout this year.

Reservations for the dinner are available from Jeannette Kelly and Agnes Loughran, ticket chairmen, or from any Democratic committeemen. Tickets are also available at Epstein's store on lower Broadway.

Hurley Board Sets Hearings

HURLEY

The Hurley town planning board has scheduled three public hearings to precede its next regular meeting on September 17.

The first will concern the application of developer Pat Simmons for approval of the second section of Leewood Knolls, a residential development of 20 lots located off Old Route 209 in Riverside Park.

The second is a one-lot subdivision requested by Henry Harjes Jr. for his property on west side of Lucas Avenue Extension, and the third is to consider the application of Newman and Antilia, builders, for a 43-lot subdivision on Oak Ridge in West Hurley.

The hearings begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Hurley Library on Main Street, and will be followed by the board's September meeting.

At the August meeting, planners approved the application of Douglas VanderVliet for Pine Oakes Estates, a residential development off Tanglewood Road in West Hurley.

Francis Murray, newly appointed to the planning board, attended his first meeting. He will serve the remainder of the unexpired term of James Fisher, who resigned recently because other commitments made it impossible for him to attend meetings.

Police Exam Is Scheduled

KINGSTON

La Leche League Meeting Scheduled

Kingston La Leche League will hold its next meeting Tuesday, Aug. 28 at the home of Mrs. Pan Usticke, Williams Lane, West Hurley, located off Route 28 by the Numrich Arms Sports Center. Mrs. Ruth Scogna, a qualified La Leche League leader, will talk on "Nutrition and Weaning."

The League believes that in the early months of babyhood, breast milk is most nutritious for infants and the only one food necessary for their well being. With the introduction of solid foods, baby's dependence upon mother lessens and the process of weaning begins.

This meeting offers suggestions of wholesome, appetizing foods to serve children, offering alternatives to commercial baby foods and highly processed convenience snacks. Refreshments at the meeting will be recipes taken from "Mother's in the Kitchen," the La Leche League cookbook geared to preparing nutritious meals with minimum effort.

The best time to attend the meetings is during pregnancy, but all women interested in breastfeeding are welcome to attend. The meetings are held in the homes of members to promote an informal atmosphere and foster a mutual exchange of ideas.

Mrs. Usticke, another qualified leader, and Mrs.

Scogna, are available for telephone counseling to answer questions from nursing mothers. While La Leche League International does include a medical advisory board of obstetricians and pediatricians who review all scientific information, medical advice is never given by the local leaders.

The local La Leche Chapter maintains an extensive library of books on childbirth, childcare, breastfeeding, and nutrition. These are available for loan at the meeting, along with pamphlets on many specialized aspects of nursing, and the League manual, "The Womanly Art of Breastfeeding."

Nussbaum-Browning

Janice Edythe Nussbaum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Nussbaum of West Hurley, became the bride of Thomas DeWitt Browning, Milford, Del., on Sunday, Aug. 12, at The Hedges in West Park. The bridegroom is the son of Emma Lou Browning of Dover, Del., and the late Cecil Browning.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose a gown in ecru imported organza styled with a V-neckline and empire bodice. Hand-clipped white Nottingham lace trimmed the bodice. The hem of the A-line skirt was bordered with a double row of matching lace motifs. She wore a band of ivory and white silk flowers in her hair to which was shirred her chapel length, silk illusion veil. She carried three white roses, and baby's breath.

Mrs. Joseph Doan, sister of the bride, Elmwood Park, N.J., was matron of honor. Miss Cathy Nussbaum, sister of the bride, West Hurley, was bridesmaid. They wore gowns of rose printed sheer over ivory taffeta. The gowns were styled with A-line waistlines accented with olive green ribbon and featured ruffled skirts trimmed with ivory lace. They wore arrangements of pink roses with baby's breath in their hair and carried similar bouquets.

Re-embroidered Alencon lace and crystal pleated organza formed the high stand-up collar. The hemline terminated in a chapel length train which was bordered with a deep flounce of pleated organza and matching lace.

She wore a Camelot-styled headpiece of matching lace to which was shirred her cathedral length mantilla. She carried a bouquet of white miniature carnations.

The matron of honor wore a pale aqua gown of polyester voile fashioned with a high neckline and abbreviated sleeves. The gown featured white Venice lace braid accents and a wide bow and streamer effect at the back waist.

All attendants were gowned alike in rainbow colors of maize, Nile and aqua. The embroidered organza print gowns were styled similarly to the honor attendant's with princess bodices and high necklines. White Venice lace braid trimmed the collars and cuffs. The A-line skirts featured deep gathered flounces at the hemlines. They wore matching satin ribbons in their hair and carried arrangements of yellow and pink daisies.

Nicholas Shea of St. James, L.I., was best man for his brother. Ushers were Kevin MacCollam of Elnora and Paul Lansky, brother-in-law of the bride, Princeton, N.J. Francis M. MacKay, nephew of the bride, North Babylon, L.I., was ringbearer.

Adler Named Honorary Chairman Of Art Show

Roman Adler, internationally-acclaimed sculptor and twice "best-of-show" winner in the annual event, has been named honorary chairman of Ellenville's August 25 Art-In-The-Square exhibit and competition according to Art Council chairman, Mrs. Morris Kaufman.

Kerkonkson resident Adler was given the Fallsburg-Ellenville Art Council's top award for his famous Madonna sculpture in 1968 and again in 1970 for a precious metal plaque honoring Polish World War Two victims of all faiths. He was instrumental in organizing the first Liberty Square exhibit which has now become an annual event attracting artists from a three-state area.

Committee members include Walter D. Scott in charge of public relations, Rivian Krieger, John Beilman, Nadia Shepherd, Sydelle Kossar, Andrew Kooistra, Bertha Goodman, Ethel Rogow, Marge Van Keuren, Ruth Kleinberg, Marguerite Scott, Ruth Friedman, and Pat Clinton.

Exhibit space will be assigned in the blocked-off square as well as on the lawn in front of the WCTU-library building. Use of the lawn area has been granted by the local chapter of the WCTU. Margaret Hoyt, president. A town and village task force will handle the set up of snow fencing for art display.

Advance requests for applications indicate a record number of entrants with interest in the ceramics and crafts categories running high. Entry forms, no fee required, are available from local merchants or from the Ellenville Art Council, 48 Elm Street.

Dear Abby

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: A nervy couple we know drops by unexpectedly several times a week — and always at dinner time, so we have to invite them to stay for dinner. They are breaking us in the food department. They finish off everything so we never have any leftovers. Also they drink coffee (which isn't cheap) by the gallon. When one pot is empty the wife gets up and makes another pot, just like she's in her own home.

They invited us to dinner at their place twice, and both times they served rice while they bragged that they had a whole cow in their freezer! Don't suggest that we tell them we are already when they come over. We tried that once and they said: "So did we," came in and sat until midnight and everybody's stomach was growling so loud we could hardly hear out-selves talk.

So how do we tell this couple not to come for dinner without hurting their feelings?

STUCK: What feelings? If you permit un-welcome guests to impose on you, look for sympathy under "S" in the dictionary.

DEAR ABBY: I am a divorced woman of 43 who has been dating a 50-year-old bachelor for two years. I'd like to know if I'm wasting my time. I cook him a full hot meal at least four nights a week, and how that man loves to eat! He is so sweet and affectionate to my two daughters, who are 10 and 12, but he never kisses me unless I practically force myself on him. The first time he kissed me I was boarding a bus to go visit my mother and I said: "Aren't you going to kiss me goodbye?" So he kissed me.

Do you think there is something wrong with a man his age who can hardly keep his hands off 10 and 12-year-old girls but never makes a move toward a mature woman?

Also, he never says a word about our future. Should I bring it up? I would like to know where I stand.

TIED OF WAITING
DEAR TIED: Don't waste

any more time on him. But to be sure you aren't passing up a likely prospect, ask him how he feels about marriage. I'll bet he disappears in a hurry, which will be a break for you.

DEAR ABBY: Marvin and I have been married for six years. Under normal circumstances he is not a jealous man, but in order to keep him from being too sure of me, I have "invented" some other men in my life.

I am not a beautiful woman, but I am considered attractive. Marvin and I were separated for a few months about a year ago, and when he came back, in order to make him jealous I told him about several "admirers" who were after me, and I deliberately taunted him with tales of our affairs. It seemed to heighten my husband's interest in me.

Should I continue this deception, or should I tell him the truth? I feel that he really loves me, but I can't resist bringing up the "competition" just to keep him on his toes.

MARVIN'S WIFE: Cut out the fairy tales and be yourself. While you are inventing other men, Marvin is apt to get himself some real live women just to even the score.

DEAR ABBY: My husband's mother keeps telling me that a man's wife is nothing — his mother is the most important person in his life because a man can have 10 wives, but he can have only one mother.

I have the impression that she would like nothing more than to break up my marriage so she could have her son back home. She is twice-divorced.

My husband is a kind and gentle man, but he refuses to enter into any kind of controversy where his mother is concerned.

Since my husband refuses to take my part against her, how can I defend myself?

HURT: Tell her to refer to her Bible: "Therefore shall a man leave his father and his mother, and shall cleave unto his wife." (Genesis 2:24)

(Hear Dear Abby Mon. thru Sat. at 9:07 a.m. WKNY-1490)

Garden Club Pays Tribute To Late Mrs. S. A. Stowater

The executive board of the Woodstock Garden Club paid tribute to one of its outstanding members on August 13, the late Mrs. S. A. Stowater, who had extended her services in countless cultural and social activities in Woodstock and California. The board felt that Mrs. Stowater, who spent her summers in the art colony here, was an outstanding member of the Club and a leading citizen of the community.

Her public service activities in California included the Pacific Beach Garden Club of which she was an officer. She was one of the early organizers of the United Nations Association in San Francisco and later, an officer in the San Diego Chapter of that Association.

For 20 years, Mrs. Stowater was active in the Pacific Beach Women's Club in San Diego and one of its past presidents. During her presidency she initiated the Club's Annual Concert Series and also its Scholarship Fund. She was a charter member and former vice president of the Pan American League, a cultural and friendship organization for promoting and improving cultural and friendship relations between the United States and Mexico.

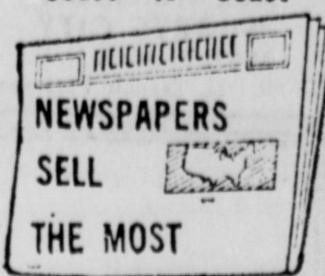

Mrs. Stowater and her husband were members of the Fine Arts Association also and she was a member of the La Jolla P.E.O.

In recent summers in Woodstock she was especially active in the Woodstock Garden Club and frequently won top awards for her entries in the club's flower shows. In citing Mrs. Stowater's service, the executive board of the Club stated her membership was a distinct contribution to all of the garden club activities.

It has been announced also that a permanent memorial foundation in Woodstock may be established by Mrs. Stowater's husband, Dr. S. A. Stowater.

The Register will have speakers for youth groups as well as other clubs and organizations.

Included in the Register are speakers on stocks, child development, mental health, drug abuse, the American Indian, local history, ecology, consumer protection, and travel. Service organizations with slide presentations are also listed.

Community organizations interested in obtaining further information about these speakers should call or visit the Kingston Area Library. Any speaker or organization who would like to be listed with the Speakers' Register should contact Mrs. Kenneth Gellhaus, Kingston.

Restoration of Little Sawyer Grist Mill Is Progressing

Slowly but surely the work of restoring the Little Sawyer Grist Mill at Seamon Park in Saugerties is making headway.

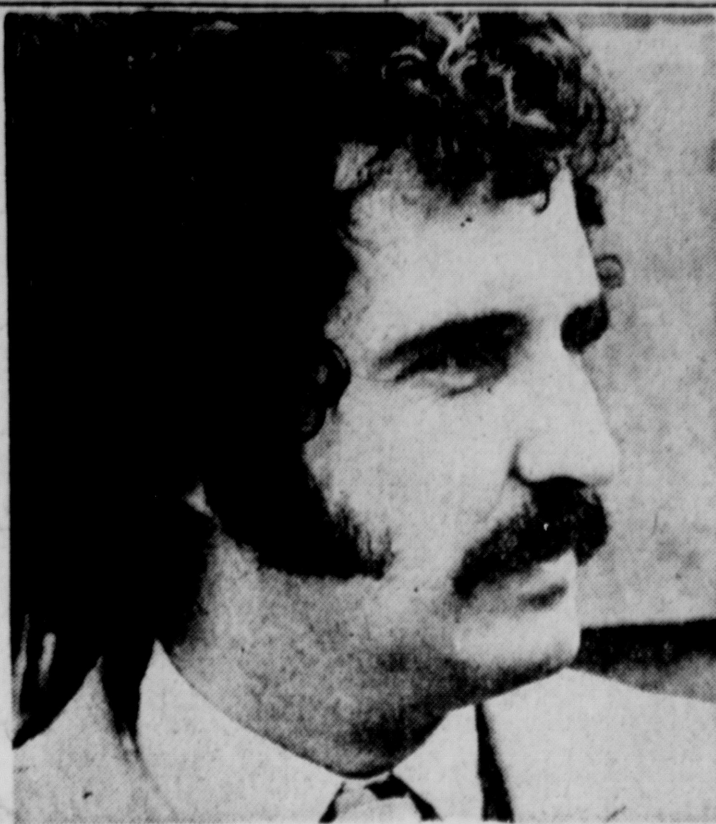

Footings are secure now for a walkway from the parking area to the mill, and by a stroke of good fortune, a grist mill exactly like the Little Sawyer was offered to the Association if it could be moved from Highland to Saugerties.

Throughout July and part of August, a group of dedicated Saugerties men spent their weekends taking down the mill, beam by beam, board by board, along with every piece of mechanism. It is all now stored in the barn in Seamon Park and most of it will be on display during the Chrysanthemum Festival in October.

Another group of the Sawyer Association has planted and tended to 1600 mum plants for its yearly fund-raising project. The plants are of low and medium heights, in red, yellow, bronze, white pink and purple. All will be potted and sold at a nominal charge. They may be ordered now by contacting Mrs. Frank Greco or Mrs. Charles Fous, both of Saugerties. Plants may also be picked up any Saturday between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. from the growing field at the Jabs house, 12 Maiden Avenue, opposite Seamon Park.

Helpful Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When one's mother-in-law oversleeps and one has to fry an egg for her breakfast after he has put on his tie to go to work. I slip the plastic cover, which the newspaper came in, over my tie, then no grease pops up on it and spots it.

Respectfully submitted,
Donald L. Robertson

Dear Heloise:

Just finished my first macrame attempt.

Found "twisties" to be far more convenient for holding the coils of long strands than rubber bands or tying them as suggested in the kit.

Mrs. R. White

Dear Heloise:

It seems every year, in spite of all warnings, someone loses a finger, toe or whatever, to his very helpful but potentially dangerous power lawn mower.

As I have mowed our lawn for a number of years, and as I value my limbs, I found a very simple safeguard to use.

To prevent slipping on our sloping lawn, I have found that wearing golf shoes works wonders.

If no one in the family plays golf, an inexpensive pair of golf shoes would be good insurance.

A Recipe Geared to Solve Those Menu - Planning Problems

You probably already have your own favorite recipe for potato salad and may not care to consider others. But do read the following recipe for Chef's Secret Potato Salad before you make that decision. There's more to it than meets the eye. You may find it goes a step further than your old recipe in helping to solve menu planning problems.

Like all potato salads, Chef's Secret Potato Salad is highly nutritious. Don't believe the old wives' tale that potatoes are "just a starch." The starch or carbohydrate in potatoes is actually a very important source of energy for your body. In fact, the recommended daily allowance of carbohydrate is over three times that for protein! In addition, a medium-size potato (3 per pound) will provide you with one-third the vitamin C you need every day. Potatoes also contribute vitamin B-1 and niacin, as well as iron and important trace minerals to your daily diet.

*RDA for Vitamin C established by the Food and Nutrition Council.

Potato salad is always economical, too. These days we're all looking for ways to make the most of our food dollars. Potatoes do just that. They're popular with everyone so you know there won't be any waste. They're great satisfiers, too. Moreover, they combine well with other foods to stretch main dish servings and lower the cost per serving of higher-priced foods.

But Chef's Secret Potato Salad offers something more. It's specially created for dieters! It might surprise you to know that potato salad doesn't have to be fattening. If you're having problems planning family menus that also satisfy the special needs of a dieter, potato salad can come to the rescue.

Potatoes themselves are actually relatively low in calories. A medium-size potato, peeled before cooking, is only 80 calories — less than a pear of the same size! The real calorie-adders are the rich dressings. So stay away from the mayonnaise-type dressings so typical of American potato salads and try using a vinaigrette dressing like the one for Chef's Secret Potato Salad. The vinegar and herbs add zesty flavor for almost no calories. If you add the dressing to the potatoes while they're still hot, they'll marinate while chilling in the refrigerator to bring out the full-bodied flavor of the dressing. Chef's Secret Potato Salad also provides a delicious Mimosa Dressing which those who aren't counting calories can add. It's a good and easy way to satisfy both dieters and non-dieters.

Knowing all the good things Chef's Secret Potato Salad has to offer, doesn't it make sense to give it a try? It may become your new favorite recipe for potato salad.

Chef's Secret Potato Salad

Potato Salad:
12 medium potatoes (four pounds), peeled
Two-thirds cup vinegar
One-quarter cup salad oil
One-half cup water
One tablespoon prepared mustard
One envelope Italian salad dressing mix
Mimosa Dressing:
One cup Mayonnaise
Two hard-cooked eggs, quartered
One small red onion, thinly sliced
Romaine lettuce leaves (optional)

Steam potatoes 25 minutes or until tender. Meanwhile to make dressing: combine vinegar, oil, water, mustard and salad dressing mix. Shake to mix well. When potatoes are tender, drain and slice into large bowl. Pour dressing over potatoes; cover and refrigerate, to chill and marinate. To prepare salad for picnic, pour excess dressing from potato salad and reserve. Pack salad in large covered container. Make Mimosa Dressing: Stir reserved dressing into mayonnaise. Separate hard-cooked egg yolks from whites. Sieve yolks and stir into mayonnaise. Pack Mimosa Dressing in jar with tight-fitting lid. Add egg whites and onions to salad. Refrigerate salad and dressing until picnic time. To serve, arrange salad in lettuce-lined bowl, if desired. Pass Mimosa Dressing.

Makes 12 servings.
NOTE: Carry salad and dressing to picnic site in insulated bags or containers.

POTATO SALAD with two delicious dressings pleases dieters and non-dieters.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

The following letter clearly deserves the weekly prize for the courtesy campaign, but unfortunately the young lady who wrote it did not include her address. I am printing it regardless, hoping that Debbie Linfield or perhaps one of her friends, will see it and send me the address so that she and her mother can receive their awards.

Dear Mrs. Post:
One of the most courteous things I know is the way my mother treats me. I'm twelve and I have definite rules to obey, like when to be home, and no back talk, but she lets me help make them and they are fair. If I mess up, she never scolds me in front of other people. She waits until they're gone or takes me to my room, and she always listens to my side of it. If I deserve punishment she usually spansks me hard and gets it over with instead of grounding me or something and having a gloomy "punishment" mood around the house all week! Because mother is courteous to me, it makes me want to be courteous to her, and I don't need to be scolded or punished very often.

Debbie Linfield
Dear Mrs. Post:
I was born and brought up in England, and it was the custom to tell relatives and close friends what one received as Christmas and birthday gifts. I mentioned to a friend that my son and daughter in law never tell me about gifts they've gotten, and I was told that it is not the custom here. In fact, my friend informed me it is in very poor taste to tell people no matter how close they are to you, what you received. Am I correct, or is my friend?

Mrs. S.:
This is just a personal mannerism which is excused or explained by calling it a custom. Most families — my own included — enjoy telling interested people what gifts they have received. Possibly others don't because they feel it invites criticism or comparison, or because they think the other person is not really interested. In any case, I wouldn't hesitate to ask your own son about gifts. If he has a reason for not discussing them, it is his prerogative to tell you so.

Rather than being in poor taste to mention a gift, it is a compliment to the giver, showing your pleasure and appreciation.

Tuesday night Milner came to bat in an almost identical situation and won the game with a two-out, ninth inning single. The victory, the Mets' fifth in their last seven games, went to Tug McGraw, the ace reliever who has struggled all season long.

Both McGraw's Overdue

The Mets, in last place in the National League East but only six games off the pace, rallied for two runs in the last of the ninth to edge the Dodgers for the second straight night.

And also for the second straight night, John Milner's

Still, the Dodgers tied it in

"I had to come in standing up," said Millan. "If I had slid I never would have made it. I had to hit him."

While Aaron, who has hit four home runs in the past six days, moved a step closer to the record, it was a two-run homer by pinch-hitter Jose Cruz in the ninth inning that lifted the Cardinals past the Braves. Baseballs were flying out of Atlanta Stadium all-night long as Dave Johnson (34), Ted Sizemore (1), and Joe Torre (12h) all homered earlier in the game.

Stan Smith and Nastase Unprecedented Co-Seeds

Tournament chairman Billy Talbert explained that the seeding committee "could not split out the two men" for the tourney which will be played at Forest Hills, Aug. 29-Sept. 9. He said that Smith and Nastase will be in opposite sides of the draw being made today.

Smith has beaten Nastase in four of their last five meetings including their meeting in the Minnesota moved out to a 3-1 lead in the first before Robinson's hit keyed a rally that tied the game and Baltimore scored the winning run in the fifth inning when Al Bumbry singled, went to third on a Rich Coggins' single and scored when Tommy Davis bounced into a double play.

Baltimore now leads Boston by 4 games and Detroit by 4½ games.

HOME ON ERROR — Birmingham, Mich., Little Leaguer Scott Currie scores in fifth inning on his triple and an error, as Monterrey, Mexico catcher Armando Montemayor was unable to hold the ball in action at Williamsport, Pa., Wednesday. Michigan defeated Mexico 8-1 in quarter final game of Little League World Series. (UPI)

Colonie Bows Out In LL World Play

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Pitchers dominated the Little League World Series Wednesday as Tucson, Ariz., and Birmingham, Mich., permitted opponents only five hits to win opening games.

Tucson left-hander Mike Fimmers hurled a one-hitter, with 14 strikeouts, to lead his team past Colonie, N.Y., 4-0. Birmingham southpaw Bill Gee scattered four hits to beat Monterrey, Mexico, 8-1.

Tucson and Birmingham face each other today in semi-final play as Tainan City, Taiwan, square off against Tampa, Fla.

Taiwan and Tampa won their opening games with a no-hitter and a two-hitter, respectively.

The sole base hit against Fimmers was a leadoff bunt. Tucson third baseman Mark Osborne fielded the ball cleanly and had a chance to nab Colonie shortstop Bill Lovely at first, but Osborne decided not to make the throw.

Handcuffing Colonie with a sharply dropping curve, Fimmers set down the next 10 batters. He yielded back-to-back walks in the fourth, then settled down to retire the last eight batters.

Tucson got seven hits off Colonie's Mark Friss, who had spent three nights in the Little League infirmary with a flu. Tucson scored twice in the third on two walks, an error and a single. Two more came in the sixth on three walks and a single.

Scott Currie led Birmingham's attack with three hits, including two triples. Fimmers fired a one-hitter to lead his club to a 4-0 win over Colonie, N.Y. The only hit off Fimmers was a bunt single by Bill Lovely leading off the first inning.

Tucson scored a pair of unearned runs in the third and tallied two more in the sixth, one on an RBI single by Fimmers.

Today's first game matches the tournament's most explosive team and the club which has gotten some of the tourney's best pitching.

Tainan City has won its last four games by scores of 18-0, 19-0 and 24-0, while Tampa has registered five shutouts in its 11 tournament games.

In game two, Birmingham, a team that stomped Rapid City, S.D., 21-1, to reach the World Series quarter-finals, faces a Tucson squad which has chalked up three consecutive shutouts.

Today's winners will meet in the World Series finals Saturday.

Matches Count With L&M Golf

CARY, N. C. (UPI) —With Nicklaus already has Jones and Jerry Heard, Nos. 2-only to fall victim to Nicklaus start the medal play tournament. Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf amassed $245,424 in winnings 5 respectively on the PGA's Tournament Players Division exemption list.

Brash young tour sophomore Lanny Wadkins, $40,000 richer after winning the USI Classic last week, is in the L&M field. He jumped from the tournament into match play last year, will be my top priority when we competing.

Defending L&M champion Lou Graham says he doesn't even want to repeat as winner of the $20,000 purse.

Instead, Graham and the other 146 golfers in the L&M want a shot at head-to-head competition with Nicklaus, Weiskopf and the others who prequalified for the $150,000 U.S. Professional Match Play Championship, which starts Saturday.

Specifically, they want a chance to meet Nicklaus, the man whose awesome talents have led to almost wholesale domination of the game and challenge. I don't ever like to who won the match play last year, defeating Frank Beard for the title and the $40,000 second round, the top eight winners' share.

If Nicklaus should win it field for match play. The ninth again, the prize would put his man takes the lead going into career winnings within striking distance of an unprecedented $2 million, at $1,989,129.

Nicklaus rolled into this Raleigh suburb Wednesday and gave the McGregor Downs Country Club course his nod of approval.

"It's a good golf course, it's got a lot of good shots on it," Nicklaus said. "I hit the ball pretty good when I got loosened up. I just had a little bit of trouble on the first nine ... It's been a few days since I played."

Today's winners will meet in the World Series finals Saturday.

Starting Sept. 9

Sunday Post Time At Monticello

MONTICELLO, N.Y. (UPI)—Monticello Raceway, the home of more new and creative ideas for the sport of racing than any other track in the country under its president Leon Greenberg, announced Wednesday that it will become the first downstate New York track to initiate Sunday racing, when the trotters and pacers take to the track on Sept. 9 at the Sullivan County oval.

Turk's, Lions BRL Winners

KINGSTON—Turk Construction pounded out 17 hits to blast the Kingston Lions 19-2 and Lomontville Fire Company blanked the Rondout Valley Lions in Babe Ruth action Wednesday night.

Mike McWeeny and Steve Grieco both went 5-for-5 to pace the Turk scoring machine that only failed to score in one inning. One of McWeeny's hits was a home run and Grieco belted out two doubles and a triple.

John Acker notched the victory for Turk after relieving Mike Mercken. The Lions could only muster five hits and four of those came from Bill Tripp and Bill Mercken, who had two each.

Mercken and Bill Petramale absorbed the shelling which included two five-run innings. Mercken was charged with the loss.

Pat McEvoy stopped the Rondout Lions on one hit to vault Lomontville into a 1-0 lead in the best of three championship series of the Rondout Valley League.

John Nadratowski singled home Fran Groeters and Ted Nadratowski with the winning runs in the third inning.

Papa Joe's Extend Win Streak to 13

KINGSTON—Boice in homers and singles, the bottom half to nail down the 10-9 victory.

Trailing 3-0, Papa Joe's exploded for 10 runs in two innings to trounce Bud's Subs, 10-5, and extend their unbeaten string to 13 straight games in the AA Division of the City Slo Pitch League.

Meanwhile, the runnerup Capri 400 squad held off Beekman Arms, 10-9, for its ninth win in 13 decisions. Esposito's three homers and three doubles, and Boice's three homers and three doubles, helped Papa Joe's to a 10-9 victory.

Three of the five Bud's tallies were the result of home runs by Earl Edmonds, Duke Bowens and John Armstrong.

Capri scored seven runs in the first inning, led 10-0 at the end of three, but Beekman Arms fell one run shy of tying with six runs in the sixth. Dave Lowe rapped a single and homer for Capri. Tom Tortorella slammed two home runs and knocked in six runs and Bob Masten had a perfect day with two singles and a homer for the Arms.

After falling behind 9-8 when Colonial Lounge tallied three times in the top of the seventh, Esposito's rallied with two in the eighth.

Just Old Crowd Pleasers: Pancho Gonzales and Ilie

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (UPI)—Ilie Nastase and Pancho Gonzales, two great all-time favorites with crowds, didn't disappoint in their first appearance Wednesday at the $30,000 Eastern Open tennis championship.

Nastase, bantering with the crowd and officials for two sets, settled down to play serious tennis in the third set and defeated part-timer Herb Fitzgibbon of New York, 6-3, 6-7, 6-3.

Gonzales worked hard for his straight-set triumph over English teenager John Lloyd. The 45-year-old veteran from Las Vegas won a tie-breaker game in 5-4 in the first set and went on to defeat the 19-year-old Lloyd, 7-6, 6-4.

While defending champion Nastase and Gonzales advanced to the second round, three players—Dick Stockton of Port Washington, N.Y., Paul Gerken of East Norwalk, Conn., and Colin Dibley of Australia—won't match suspended by darkness.

Second round encounters to reach the quarterfinals.

Stockton was too powerful for Karl Meier of West Germany, his booming serve and volley game on grass resulting in a 6-4, 6-4 victory. The No. 3 seeded player gave up only seven points on his serve.

Dibley, seeded No. 8, crushed 45-year-old Torben Ulrich of Denmark, 6-2, 6-3. The Aussie star needed only 50 minutes to reach the quarters. Gerken was forced to three sets before beating Allan Stone of Australia, 7-6, 4-6, 6-3. Stone upset Tom Gorman, the No. 2 seed, Tuesday.

In a women's quarterfinal, Ann Kiyomura of San Mateo, Calif., defeated Susan Minford of North Ireland, 7-5, 6-4.

Nastase and Jimmy Connors of Belleville, Ill., top seeded in doubles play, split sets with Tom Edlefsen of Los Angeles and Butch Seawagen of Bay of East Norwalk, Conn., and side, N.Y., 6-7, 6-4 with the Colin Dibley of Australia—won't match suspended by darkness.

Ali's Jaw ... Just Perfect

DEER PARK, Pa. (UPI)—A subdued Muhammad Ali stuck his famous jaw out Wednesday, was hit hard by two sparring partners, and then declared himself ready for his Sept. 10 rematch with Ken Norton in Los Angeles.

It was the 31-year-old former heavyweight champions' first public workout since Norton broke his jaw in their bout at San Diego, Calif., March 31 to inflict upon Ali only his second loss in a brilliant career.

Ali worked four rounds with New York heavyweight Billy Daniels and then went two with Tony Doyle of Salt Lake City, Utah, before he quit serious work for the day.

The clowning that has marked previous Ali workouts was missing as the "people's champion" went out to test his jaw.

He wore no headgear and he was flatfooted in the first round, but he hurt Daniels with some murderous left hooks. There was a mean look in his eyes.

Convinced that the jaw had healed, he spent the next three rounds slipping punches and moving smoothly as the Ali of old.

Ali relied mainly on defense in his workout with Doyle. The former champ, whose only other loss came against Joe Frazier, looked trim at 214 pounds and he said afterwards "this is the best shape I've been in since I beat Sonny Liston nine years ago."

Ali has been at his two-acre training camp in the Pocono Mountains for the last 10 weeks and there was not an ounce of fat on his well-muscled frame. He has chopped down 86 pine trees in his search for fitness and by his own admission "this is the hardest I've ever worked for a fight."

"This is the crossroads for me. I have experienced many crises during my career, but I sincerely believe I will defeat Norton. If Norton wins then he'll have beaten me twice and he can consider himself a great fighter."

As he talked, Ali checked off fight photographs of himself and then looked over his figure on a wall-sized mirror.

"Look at that, not an ounce of fat," he said, pointing to his stomach.

Looking back to the first fight with Norton, Ali conceded "It was probably the best thing that ever happened to me when I got that spanking. I was not fit for that fight and a few before that and this made me realize I would have to go out and work."

At the suggestion that his legs could not perhaps last the championship route, Ali said "I'm 214 pounds now and that means I'm dangerous. If people think my legs have gone they are entitled to their opinion, but everyone will see for themselves when I get into the ring."

The only light moment of his first public workout came when he had completed his sparring. Boston heavyweight Jack O'Halloran entered the training area shouting "your easy, your easy..." "as Ali removed his gloves.

After that, things turned into a farce quickly as the two men exchanged public insults for the benefit of an audience of about 150 fans made up of young children and a few fight veterans.

Ali shouted "Joe Frazier is our (black) ugliest fighter and you are theirs (white)."

Gasoline Pump Catches Fire
A gasoline pump at the Stewart's Bread and Butter Store on the Boulevard caught on fire Wednesday afternoon, emitting a large volume of smoke, forced evacuation of the store, but resulted in only minor damage.

There was no explosion involved.

Fire Department officials said the small blaze was apparently ignited when a car struck the self-service pump, causing a shortage and spark in the electrical wiring.

James Coco New Series Star

NEW YORK (AP) — The audience, maybe 300 or so hardy souls, began filling the seats of CBS' Studio 41 here while Jose Perez was telling James Coco he was sorry he quit and that he'd like his old job back. "Okay, thank you very much. That ends the rehearsal," said the voice on the studio loudspeaker. Cameramen relaxed, the cast took a break and a prop man made a final inspection tour of the set. All were working on the second episode of "Calucci's Dept.," a new half-hour series about the inhabitants of a state unemployment office run by Joseph Calucci (Coco).

The series, which begins Sept. 14 on CBS-TV, is good for 13 episodes, according to its executive producer, Bob Precht. If it clicks with viewers, more episodes probably will be ordered.

The concern of the moment was to have good, crisp performances in the day's effort. It, like all 13 episodes, would be taped twice on the same day and within the space of a few hours.

"The first show is essentially a dress rehearsal, although we always tape it and may edit parts of it into the final show we're doing later today," said Precht, a lean, athletic-looking man.

The series' creators, Renee Taylor and Joe Bologna, came out to warm up the audience with a few quips, an explanation of what the show was about and to introduce the regulars on it.

The regulars and extras—16 in all—began taking their places for the opening scene. The set was in two sections, the main office and Calucci's office. Both looked authentic—old, dusty and miserable.

"Action—business," the floor manager intoned. The thespians, motionless until that order, immediately came to life and created a remarkably real illusion of the morning rush for unemployment benefits.

The plot centered on a young Puerto Rican employee, played by Perez, who abruptly goes nuts during a bureaucratic squabble over paper-shuffling. He screams, tosses papers in the air and quits.

"How can you quit?" Coco subsequently asks him. "You're only 22 years away from your pensions."

The show's six scenes were shot in sequence, with delays of one to five minutes between segments to allow for set changes — only two were needed—and to ready cast and cameras for the next scene.

During the breaks, Bologna came out to chat with the audience. One young man asked if the unemployment office in a real show was modeled on a real one.

"We've sort of modeled it after the one at 23rd Street and Sixth Avenue," Bologna cheerfully explained. "That's MY office."

The show went smoothly. No retakes were needed, no lines were blown and the laughter was frequent and loud. And few in the audience balked when the overhead "Applause" sign blinked on.

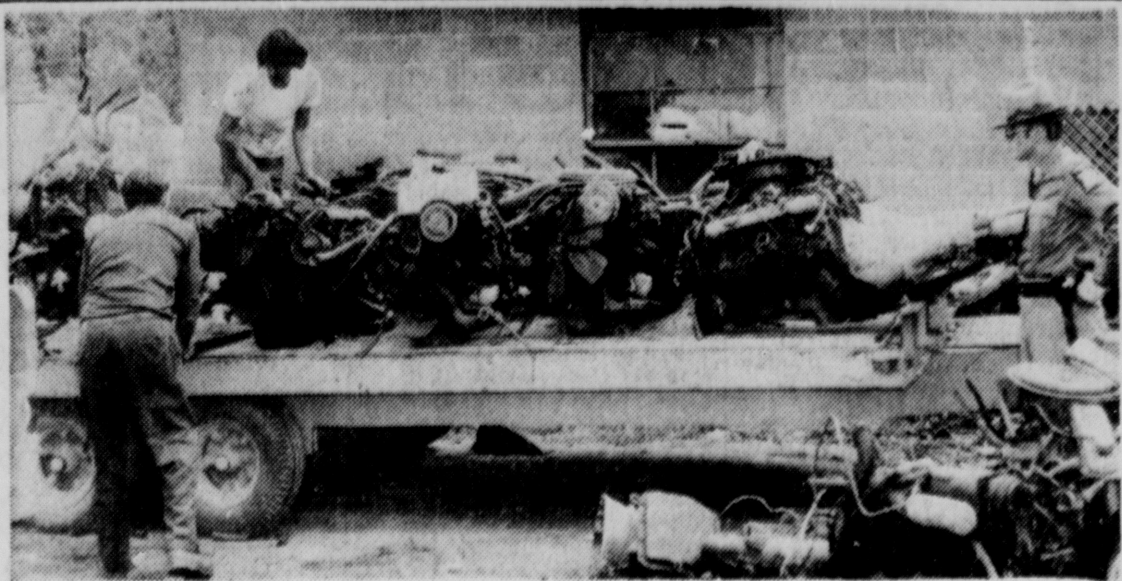

It had the earmarks of a winning series. But the cast won't know until November—when networks usually renew or cancel—if their unemployment office will remain make-believe or become the real, wretched McCoy.

STOLEN MOTORS — Several of the 22 stolen car engines seized by state police BCI investigators Wednesday are loaded onto a flatbed truck at Milton Auto Wreckers in Milton. The engines were discovered stashed in a corner of the junkyard, and file checks determined that they had allegedly been stolen. Police claim that leaders of the stolen car ring were prepared to sell the engines for between $100 and $150 apiece. Investigators J. A. Fitzgerald and F. C. Cooper said today that arrests involving the alleged stolen motors are imminent. Meanwhile, 29-year-old Antonio Torres of Long Island, who was arrested last week when police smashed the local stolen car ring, was charged Wednesday with another count of first degree possession of stolen property. And, the continuing police probe led to the recovery of another 1973 stolen car Wednesday near Middletown. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

Kingston Shooting Woman Indicted for Manslaughter

KINGSTON
Linda May Tubby, 30, arrested July 1 in the shooting death of her father, Kenneth Tubby of 219 Delaware Avenue, Kingston, was indicted today by the Ulster County Grand Jury on a charge of alleged manslaughter in the first degree.

According to police reports, Tubby was shot once in the head with a .38 cal. revolver while he was sleeping. He was pronounced dead at the scene. The shooting occurred about 3:30 a.m. and Miss Tubby was arrested minutes after.

Police reported that Tubby's wife, Myrtle, was sleeping in a downstairs bedroom when the shooting occurred. She heard a single shot, ran upstairs to her husband's bedroom and then phoned City Judge Hubert Richter and told him what had happened. Richter immediately phoned police. Tubby, a veteran of World War II, was employed as a security guard with Hercules Power Company in Port Ewen.

Among other indictments handed up by District Attorney Francis J. Vogt were the following:

Claude E. Face, about 50, of N. Y. City, an employee of the Department of Agriculture and Markets in Albany. He is charged with 15 counts of issuing false certificates in violation of the penal law.

Face, a fruit inspector is alleged to have issued certificates to Norco Fruit Distributors in Milton without having inspected the firm's fruit in February and March of 1973.

Also, Michael Fair, 19, of 30 Pine Street, Ellenville, who was indicted on charges of alleged burglary in the first degree, attempting to commit a crime and assault in the third degree.

Fair is alleged to have entered the residence of an elderly Ellenville woman on May 29, 1973 and attempted to commit rape.

Dennis Thomas Horn, 19, of East Rockaway, Joseph Christopher Garguilo, 20, of Gardiner and Jean Mangin, 19, of Gardiner, were all indicted for criminally selling dangerous drug (marijuana) in the third degree; criminal possession of a dangerous drug in the third degree and fourth degree and conspiracy in the second degree.

The trio are accused of the alleged sale of the drug to an undercover agent, Anthony J. Padula, as well as conspiracy to sell.

Martin Eugene Murtagh, 32, of 486 Washington Avenue, Cliffside Park, N.J., was indicted on a charge of robbery in the second degree. He is alleged to have pointed a .38 cal. revolver at Manfred Heilenschmidt at the Bridge Liquor Store, Town of Hurley. It is alleged that he stole more than $300.

Also indicted was Benito Ycaza of Hurley, charged with incest, two counts. The 45-year-old man is alleged to have committed incest on Dec. 26, 1972 and May 4, 1973.

Informational Meeting on Ulster Sewers

TOWN OF ULSTER
The Town of Ulster will hold an informational meeting on Monday at 8 p.m. at the Chambers School to explain the latest circumstances surrounding the long-delayed sewer improvement project.

Town of Ulster Supervisor Carmine Sabino said Monday's meeting will deal specifically with regulations concerning hookups between individual homes and the newly installed street laterals in the area from the Kingston city line to the Chambers School.

Sabino said residents will be informed where to obtain the necessary permits, who is qualified for the hookup and when the work should be started and completed.

Sabino said Wednesday that residents of the area will have 90 days from the "order" date to obtain their permits and complete the necessary work. That 90-day period, he added, will probably begin shortly after Monday's meeting.

Town officials, said Sabino, want individual hookups completed before winter, so the project can be put into operation as soon as IBM completes its commitment to the sewer system.

According to Sabino, IBM must install approximately 600 feet of pipe from its own sewage treatment plant to the near-end interceptor line on Boice's Lane. The company has received bids for the project, but hasn't awarded a bid as yet.

Sabino said IBM's delay threatens to delay implementation of at least part of the system. He estimated that it would take IBM approximately six weeks to install the sewer line, and then another two weeks beyond that to test the town's new sewage treatment plant.

The sewer system, Sabino continued, cannot be put into operation unless IBM is tied in. He explained that the treatment plant has been designed to satisfy minimum effluent requirements, and IBM's sewage is needed to meet those requirements.

If IBM were to begin installation immediately, the partial system could likely be operative by the end of October. Further delays on IBM's part, Sabino maintains, could delay implementation of the project until next spring.

In the meantime, the remaining section of the sewer improvement area (from the Chambers School to Leggs Mills Road) is still some 14 months from completion. That delay was caused when Site-Con Construction Co. abandoned its contract with only 25 per cent of the work completed.

As a result, the town has been forced to readvertise for bids for the rest of the project that had originally been awarded to Site-Con. Those bids will be opened Sept. 6.

The town still has $1.5 million left from the last bond issue that hasn't been spent, but it is likely that the bids received Sept. 6 will be higher than that amount. Sabino said the town will sue Site-Con for the difference.

But the lawsuit may take several months to settle, so the town may be forced to go back to the people for a third bond issue vote to cover expenses until the suit is settled. But Sabino said that that course of action, at this point, is still tentative.

New Paltz Seeks Final Approval On Proposed Fulton Road By-Pass

By WADE BURKHART

NEW PALTZ
Fulton Road, expected with the planned extensions to serve as a passenger car bypass around New Paltz' heavily travelled Main Street, may go to bids very shortly.

There is already a Fulton Road in New Paltz, but it only runs from Prospect Street to Duzine Road, north of the core area of the village. The village and the town have agreed, in a joint venture, to each extend their sections of the road, allowing travel from Route 32 North to North Putt Corners Road and a way around the village for those who know about it.

Since the village section of the road will join with Route 32, State Department of Transportation approval was needed for the plans, Christus Larios, Village Attorney J. Philip Zand said the right of way situation for the village was sufficiently cleared up to go to bids. The village still needs two more parcels, which are presently in condemnation, and Zand is in the process of getting appraisals so the village can take title. The owner of record of the parcels is Storr Realty, dissolved by the New York Secretary of State in 1938 for nonpayment of its license fee, and Zand said the money for the parcel would probably go to the County Treasurer's Office.

Larios said the village could go to bid as soon as the approval was received as far as the engineering goes. He said the specifications were all drawn and bound.

The engineer said he expected work to be begun this year, and the fill done and most of the pipe laid, with final completion of the project next year. The village's project also includes some water and sewer pipe work, connected with the road extension, on Church Street.

New Paltz Town Supervisor Theodore Lasher said the town may go to bids by the next town board meeting, the second week in September. He said the town section of the road might be passable this year, with final paving done in the spring of next year. The Town has title to the land it needs for the extension.

Heavy truck traffic will not be allowed on the road, the bypass being reserved strictly for passenger travel. Aside from the complaints residents along the road would have about truck traffic, the section of Fulton Road in the village is steep and hilly, and unsuitable for heavy trucks.

The section of road the village will build is about 1,400 feet, and the town's of a similar length. The cost of the road will not be available until bids are in, but both municipalities are planning on using revenue sharing funds for much of the cost.
